how people make decisions in an era of too much information and fake news humans originally evolved in a world of few choices prehistoric preindustrial and predigital eras required fewer decisions than today s all access always on world of too much information economists have largely discarded the idea that agents act rationally and the market follows suit it seems that no matter how small or innocuous a decision might seem there s almost no way to guess the effect it might have the authors of the importance of small decisions view decisions and their outcomes from a different perspective as key elements in the evolution of culture in this trailblazing book they examine different kinds of decisions and map the outcomes both short and long term drawing on this they introduce a map of social behavior that captures the essential elements of human decision making the authors look at the new england patriots decision in 2000 to draft an underachieving college quarterback named tom brady they consider warren buffett s investment strategy and they chart the dancing landscape of a college applicant s decision making environment finally they show that decisions can be ranked according to transparency of choice and social influence when fake news seems indistinguishable from real news and when the internet offers a cacophony of voices they warn we can t afford to crowdsource our decisions containing all the current decisions of the courts of record of new york state namely court of appeals supreme court new york superior court new york common pleas superior court of buffalo city court of new york city court of brooklyn and the surrogates courts varies slightly
