this book provides step by step explanations of successful implementations and practical applications of machine learning the book s github page contains software codes to assist readers in adapting materials and methods for their own use a wide variety of applications are discussed including wireless mesh network and power systems optimization computer vision image and facial recognition protein prediction data mining and data discovery numerous state of the art machine learning techniques are employed with detailed explanations including biologically inspired optimization genetic and other evolutionary algorithms swarm intelligence viola jones face detection gaussian mixture modeling support vector machines deep convolutional neural networks with performance enhancement techniques including network design learning rate optimization data augmentation transfer learning spiking neural networks and timing dependent plasticity frequent itemset mining binary classification and dynamic programming this book provides valuable information on effective cutting edge techniques and approaches for students researchers practitioners and teachers in the field of machine learning computer aided design and system analysis aim to find mathematical models that allow emulating the behaviour of components and facilities the high competitiveness in industry the little time available for product development and the high cost in terms of time and money of producing the initial prototypes means that the computer aided design and analysis of products are taking on major importance on the other hand in most areas of engineering the components of a system are interconnected and belong to different domains of physics mechanics electrics hydraulics thermal when developing a complete multidisciplinary system it needs to integrate a design procedure to ensure that it will be successfully achieved engineering systems require an analysis of their dynamic behaviour evolution over time or path of their different variables the purpose of modelling and simulating dynamic systems is to generate a set of algebraic and differential equations or a mathematical model in order to perform rapid product optimisation iterations the models must be formulated and evaluated in the most efficient way automated environments contribute to this one of the pioneers of simulation technology in medicine defines simulation as a technique not a technology that replaces real experiences with guided experiences reproducing important aspects of the real world in a fully interactive fashion iii in the following chapters the reader will be introduced to the world of simulation in topics of current interest such as medicine military purposes and their use in industry for diverse applications that range from the use of networks to combining thermal chemical or electrical aspects among others we hope that after reading the different sections of this book we will have succeeded in bringing across what the scientific community is doing in the field of simulation and that it will be to your interest and liking lastly we would like to thank all the authors for their excellent contributions in the different areas of simulation this volume adds new dimension and organization to the literature of touch and the hand covering a diversity of topics surrounding the perception and cognition of touch in relation to the hand no animal species compare to humans with regard to the haptic or touch sense so unlike visual or auditory cognition we know little about such haptic cognition we do know that motor skills play a major role in haptics but senses like vision do not determine hand preference or hand ability it seems also that the potential ability to perform a task may be present in both hands and evidence indicates that the hand used to perform tactile tasks in blind or in sighted conditions is independent of one's hand preference this book will be useful for those in education and robotics and can serve as a general text focusing on touch and developmental psychology neuro robotics is one of the most multidisciplinary fields of the last decades fusing information and knowledge from neuroscience engineering and computer science this book focuses on the results from the strategic alliance between neuroscience and robotics that help the scientific community to better understand the brain as well as design robotic devices and algorithms for interfacing humans and robots the first part of the book introduces the idea of neuro robotics by presenting state of the art bio inspired devices the second part of the book focuses on human machine interfaces for performance augmentation which can be seen as augmentation of abilities of healthy subjects or assistance in case of the mobility impaired the third part of the book focuses on the inverse problem i e how we can use robotic devices that physically interact with the human body in order a to understand human motor control and b to provide therapy to neurologically impaired people or people with disabilities the three volume set consisting of lncs 9008 9009 and 9010 contains carefully reviewed and selected papers presented at 15 workshops held in conjunction with the 12th asian conference on computer vision accv 2014 in singapore in november 2014 the 153 full papers presented were selected from numerous submissions lncs 9008 contains the papers selected for the workshop on human gait and action analysis in the wild the second international workshop on big data in 3d computer vision the workshop on deep learning on visual data the workshop on scene understanding for autonomous systems and the workshop on robust local descriptors for computer vision lncs 9009 contains the papers selected for the workshop on emerging topics on image restoration and enhancement the first international workshop on robust reading the second workshop on user centred computer vision the international workshop on video segmentation in computer vision the workshop my car has eyes intelligent vehicle with vision technology the third workshop on e heritage and the workshop on computer vision for affective computing lncs 9010 contains the papers selected for the workshop on feature and similarity for computer vision the third international workshop on intelligent mobile and egocentric vision and the workshop on human identification for surveillance
