this report highlights the importance of tax collection in developing countries and recommends that the uk s aid programme should increase its focus on supporting tax authorities this is equally valid for all forms of taxation including vat personal income taxation and corporate taxation it is also essential that taxes are paid on a fair and equal basis by all new tax rules on developing countries the controlled foreign companies cfc rules are designed to discourage uk owned corporations from using tax havens traditionally these rules have applied to all uk owned corporations both those operating in the uk and those operating overseas under the new rules however this will apply only to corporations operating in the uk making it easier for those operating in developing countries to use tax havens a number of ngos have campaigned vigorously against the changes with actionaid estimating that developing countries may lose up to 4 billion in tax revenues as a result the uk government does not accept this estimate but does not deny that there will be some cost to developing countries the committee recommends that subject to the outcome of its own analysis the government should consider reversing the change as a matter of urgency the committee also received evidence which argued that the government should require uk owned companies to report their financial information on a country by country basis rather than on an aggregate basis the government is reluctant to act unless other eu countries do likewise but the committee believes that it should act unilaterally

this book argues that a leading cause of the political instability in the horn of africa is a crisis of governance caused by extreme centralization of power weak institutions and the failure to institutionalise the responsible use of authority in recent years many attempts have been made to resolve the ongoing conflicts in somalia and south sudan but problems remain and in 2019 the instability spread to ethiopia this book critically examines how many of the governance problems in the region can be addressed through institutional design the central argument is that an inclusive system of governance through federalism devolution and inclusive political institutions as well as ensuring the institutionalization of power through strengthening the rule of law has the potential to make governments more accountable inclusive and be able to deliver critical services such systems ensure relative stability and peace and reduce the risks of state fragmentation a major concern in the region demonstrating that the threats of further fragmentation and conflict due to the crisis of governance are likely to continue unless serious steps are taken to deal with the situation the book will be an important read for researchers and policy makers with an interest in peacemaking politics constitutional law and federalism in the region increases in cereal prices can have adverse effects on poor net food buyers this is a particular problem in ethiopia because of frequent natural calamities especially droughts that lead to significant price hikes conversely falling domestic prices of some cereals especially maize typically at harvest time can be detrimental to producers who are net sellers price stabilization efforts are therefore an important consideration for ethiopian policy makers this paper sheds light on options for cereal price stabilization in ethiopia drawing on experiences of other developing countries the international experience in food price stabilization shows that while some countries have achieved success the efforts of many others have actually destabilized market prices at great fiscal cost we assess the extent to which price stabilization efforts in ethiopia were effective during the major el n<sup>i</sup> to induced drought of 2015 16 and find that opportunities were missed to enhance food security and consumer welfare through permitting private sector imports in order to curtail the rise in cereal prices and to reduce fiscal costs for the government and donors
