in 1900 only a handful of drugs morphine quinine aspirin etc had genuine efficacy but had little value for bacterial or viral infections or cancer these conditions were usually untreatable now there are literally thousands of drugs which offer cures or greatly extended life spans for those with life threatening conditions life saving drugs the elusive magic bullet describes the discovery and development of antibacterial anti viral and anti cancer drugs the book highlights the colourful characters behind the inventions and the huge improvements in quality of life and life expectancy that these drugs have produced emphasis is given to the new drugs that have emerged as a result of knowledge of the human genome and the ways in which the newer drugs are being designed to tackle disease particularly cancer at the genetic level chemical structures are provided for all of the key drugs and the book is well illustrated life saving drugs the elusive magic bullet can be read as a history of drug development during the past 100 years by those with only a passing knowledge of chemistry for anyone entering the medical profession pharmacy or nursing it will provide a superb basic knowledge of all drugs they are ever likely to meet including their modes of action for the chemist or medicinal chemist it will provide the fundamental knowledge of life saving drugs that they all should know and for the non scientist who wants to know about super bugs sars ebola and all of the wonderful advances in treating cancer it is illuminating and easy to read in april 2009 a new testing regime based on the second eu driving licence directive was introduced deadlines for implementation had not been met and when the new test was finally introduced it was met with intense criticism and safety concerns the number of tests taken dropped dramatically in the first few months and the industry suggested that the new test regime would threaten many small businesses and jobs the committee was concerned to not only establish whether the test had gone wrong and how problems could be rectified but also to ensure lessons are learned before the implementation of the third eu driving licence directive they concluded that they could not see why the government failed to obtain derogation from certain speed requirements and that though many elements of the new regime were appropriate it was important to take into account the concerns expressed and consider what adjustments might be required they also believe that training and instruction for the motorcycle test needs to develop and change to reflect the new test requirements the off road module of the test also needs to be amended to allow candidates to adapt their riding to reflect prevailing weather road and other circumstances the development of better awareness of motorcyclists among other road users is also crucial and should not be neglected though the government exceeded what was necessary to comply with the eu directive the committee believes they were right to do so it is the development of multi purpose test sites for which justification was weak and implementation inept which represents the least effective element
