since the 1990s when reviving ophelia became a best seller and girl power a familiar anthem girls have assumed new visibility in the culture yet in asserting their new power young women have redefined femininity in ways that have often mystified their mothers they have also largely disavowed feminism even though their new influence is a likely legacy of feminism's second wave at the same time popular culture has persisted in idealizing demonizing or simply erasing mothers rarely depicting them in strong and loving relationships with their daughters unruly girls unrepentant mothers a companion to kathleen rowe karlyn's groundbreaking work the unruly woman studies the ways popular culture and current debates within and about feminism inform each other surveying a range of films and television shows that have defined girls in the postfeminist era from titanic and my so called life to scream and the devil wears prada and from love and basketball to ugly betty karlyn explores the ways class race and generational conflicts have shaped both girl culture and feminism's third wave tying feminism's internal conflicts to negative attitudes toward mothers in the social world she asks whether today's seemingly materialistic and apolitical girls inspired by such real and fictional figures as the spice girls and buffy the vampire slayer have turned their backs on the feminism of their mothers or are redefining unruliness for a new age

this book analyzes major films about the american political process from the 1930s through the 2010s films are grouped historically and analyzed for their portrayal of american politicians and the political system uncovering patterns and trends regarding the ways that american politics is portrayed it also explores how politics are reflected in and affected by these films for example compromise is often portrayed as a mistake and heroes generally seek to redeem a corrupt political system this book categorizes films by how politics are depicted in them e.g. cynically idealistically etc this book also considers the depiction of race and gender in films as well as the ideological slant of the stories told this book is an ethnographic examination of the young people who serve voluntarily as judges advocates and other court personnel at the red hook youth court rhyc in brooklyn new york a juvenile diversion program designed to prevent the formal processing of juvenile offenders usually first time offenders for low level offenses such as fare evasion truancy vandalism within the juvenile justice system focusing on the nine to ten week long unpaid training program that the young people undergo prior to becoming rhyc members this book offers a detailed description of young people's experiences learning about crime delinquency justice and law combining moments of self reflection and autobiographical elements into largely uncooked fieldnotes the book seeks to demonstrate the hegemonic operations of a court the red hook community justice center rhcjc a multi jurisdictional problem solving court and community center where the rhyc is housed the processes in which it secures belief in formal justice and the rule of law ensures consent to be governed and reproduces existing social structures an accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology law sociology and youth justice as well as to those undertaking ethnographic research on young people crime and justice decolonization and feminisms in global teaching and learning is a resource for teachers and learners seeking to participate in the creation of radical and liberating spaces in the academy and beyond this edited volume is inspired by and applies decolonial and feminist thought two fields with powerful traditions of critical pedagogy which have shared productive exchange the structure of this collection reflects the synergies between decolonial and feminist thought in its four parts which offer reflections on the politics of knowledge the challenging pathways of finding your voice the constraints and possibilities of institutional contexts and the relation between decolonial and feminist thought and established academic disciplines to root this book in the political struggles that inspire it and to maintain the close connection between political action and reflection in praxis chapters are interspersed with manifestos formulated by activists from across the world as further resources for learning and teaching these essays definitively argue that the decolonization of universities through the re examination of how knowledge is produced and taught is only strengthened when connected to feminist and critical queer and gender perspectives concurrently they make the compelling case that gender and feminist teaching can be enhanced and developed when open to its own decolonization
