a beautifully illustrated book length publication on the contemporary artist and academy award nominated filmmaker garrett bradley whose quietly devastating work blurs the space between fact and fiction garrett bradley works across narrative documentary and experimental modes of filmmaking to address themes such as race class familial relationships social justice and cultural histories in the united states her collaborative and research based approach to filmmaking is often inspired by the real life stories of her protagonists this book explores bradley s work through the lens of devotion and features conversations with the artist and contributions from the likes of ashley clark arthur jafa joy james tyler mitchell kevin quashie and claudia rankine this is the first volume in a new series of readers copublished with lisson gallery entitled re which will respond to a number of its artists and themes past and present adopting archival material alongside newly shot footage bradley s films exist simultaneously in the past present and future not only disrupting our perception of time but also breaking down our preconceived ideas about objectivity perspective and truth telling these narratives unfold naturally in both feature length and short form revealing a multitude of individual and collective stories the social economic and racial politics of everyday life its joys pleasures and pains are lyrically and intimately rendered on screen the texts that make up postcolonial print cultures are often found outside the archival catalogue and in lesser examined repositories such as personal collections the streets or appendages to established collections this volume examines the published and unpublished writing magazines pamphlets paratexts advertisements cartoons radio and street art that serve as the intellectual forces behind opposition to colonial orders as meditations on the futures of embryonic nation states and as visions of new forms of equality the print cultures examined here are necessarily anti institutional they serve as a counterpoint to the colonial archive and relatedly to more traditional genres and text formats coming out of large scale publishers this means that much of the primary material analyzed in this book has not been scrutinized before many of these print productions articulate collective liberation projects with origins in the grassroots they include debates around the shape of the postcolonial nation and the new state formation that necessarily draw on a diverse and contentious public sphere of opinion their rhetoric ranges from the reformist to the revolutionary reflecting the diversity indeed the disorderliness of postcolonial print cultures this book covers local national and transnational cultures from asia africa europe and the americas its wide ranging essays offer a nuanced and taken together a definitive though that is not to say comprehensive or systematic study of a global phenomenon postcolonial print cultures as a distinct literary field the chapters recover the efforts of writers readers and publishers to produce a postcolonialism from below and thereby offer a range of fresh perspectives on the meaning and history of postcolonialism
