Financial Accounting vs Managerial Accounting

Financial and managerial accounting are two distinct branches of accounting that serve different purposes and audiences

A Financial Accounting Purpose To provide financial information to external stakeholders such as investors creditors and government agencies This information helps them assess the financial health and performance of a company

Rules Regulations Adheres strictly to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles GAAP in the US or International Financial Reporting Standards IFRS internationally This ensures consistency and comparability across companies

Reporting Frequency Typically produces financial reports annually quarterly or even monthly depending on the companys size and requirements

Examples of Outputs

Balance sheet income statement statement of cash flows

B Managerial Accounting Purpose To provide financial and nonfinancial information to internal stakeholders such as managers and employees to aid in decisionmaking and operational efficiency

Rules Regulations Not bound by strict external regulations The focus is on providing relevant and timely information even if its not completely precise

Reporting Frequency Reports are generated as frequently as needed ranging from daily to 2 monthly depending on managerial requirements

Examples of Outputs Budgets cost reports performance evaluations variance analysis

II Key Concepts in Financial Accounting

A The Accounting Equation The fundamental accounting equation is  $\text{Assets} = \text{Liabilities} + \text{Equity}$  Understanding this equation is crucial to comprehending the balance sheet

Example A company with 100000 in assets 40000 in liabilities has an equity of 60000

100000 - 40000 = 60000

B Financial Statements

Balance Sheet A snapshot of a companys financial position at a specific point in time Shows assets liabilities and equity

Income Statement Shows a companys revenues expenses and net income or loss over a specific period

Statement of Cash Flows Tracks the movement of cash into and out of a company over a specific period

StepbyStep Guide to Preparing a Simple Income Statement

- 1 Gather Revenue Data Collect information on all sales and other income generated
- 2 Gather Expense Data Collect information on all costs incurred including cost of goods sold operating expenses and taxes
- 3 Calculate Gross Profit Subtract Cost of Goods Sold from Revenue
- 4 Calculate Net Income Subtract total expenses from gross profit

III Key Concepts in Managerial Accounting

A Cost Accounting Focuses on classifying allocating and controlling costs Different costing methods exist including joborder costing process costing and activitybased costing

Example A manufacturing company uses joborder costing to track the costs associated with each individual product order

B Budgeting The process of creating a detailed plan of expected revenues and expenses for a future period Budgets can be used for planning control and performance evaluation

StepbyStep Guide to Creating a Simple Budget

- 1 Sales Forecasting Estimate future sales based on market research and past performance
- 2 Cost Estimation Estimate costs associated with production sales and administration
- 3 Develop a Pro Forma Income Statement Use sales and cost estimates to project net income
- 4 Develop a Cash Budget Project cash inflows and outflows to ensure sufficient liquidity

C Performance Evaluation Using financial and nonfinancial data to assess the effectiveness and efficiency of different aspects of a business

Key Performance Indicators KPIs are crucial here

Example Tracking sales growth customer satisfaction scores and employee turnover rates to evaluate the performance of a sales department

IV Best Practices and Common Pitfalls
