this lively collection presents the revised papers resulting from a conference held at the faculty of law of the university of groningen under the auspices of the groningen centre for law and governance and the department of european and economic law the conference brought together scholars from a number of countries to examine a series of current issues in international migration law a topic which continues to be of major importance worldwide the collection aims to widen horizons in the debate and assist in achieving an understanding of the fact often forgotten by those who prefer rhetoric to understanding that migration is a truly global phenomenon while europe is at the forefront of population changes and debates on the control and management of migration there are major issues and crises in many areas across the globe and various contributions to this volume rightly draw attention to them international migration law provides a detailed and comprehensive overview of the international legal framework applicable to the movement of persons across borders the role of international law in this field is complex and often ambiguous there is no single source for the international law governing migration the current framework is scattered throughout a wide array of rules belonging to numerous fields of international law including refugee law human rights law humanitarian law labour law trade law maritime law criminal law and consular law this textbook therefore cuts through this complexity by clearly demonstrating what the current international law is and assessing how it operates the book offers a unique and comprehensive mapping of this growing field of international law it brings together and critically analyses the disparate conventional customary and soft law on a broad variety of issues such as irregular migration human trafficking refugee protection labour migration non discrimination regional free movement schemes and global migration governance it also offers a particular focus on important groups of migrants namely migrant workers refugees and smuggled migrants it maps the current status of the law governing their movement providing a thorough critical analysis of the various stands of international law which apply to them suggesting how the law may continue to develop in the future this book provides the perfect introduction to all aspects of migration and

international migration law is an important field of international law which has attracted exceptional interest in recent years this book has been written from a wide variety of perspectives for those wanting to understand the legal framework that regulates migration it is intended for students new to this field of study who seek an overview of its many components it will also appeal to those who have focussed on a particular branch of international migration law but require an understanding of how their specialisation fits with other branches of the discipline written by migration law specialists and led by respected international experts this volume draws upon the combined knowledge of international migration law and policy from academia international intergovernmental regional and non governmental organisations and national governments additional features include case studies maps break out boxes and references to resources which allow for a full understanding of the law in context companion to international migration law richard plender rev 2nd ed 1988

the second revised edition of basic documents on international migration law brings together in a single volume the principal international conventions declarations and instruments governing international migration in the form in which they stood as of early 1997 it contains the texts of these materials or where appropriate extracts from the texts together with information on the current state of ratification of each instrument and indications of any reservations interpretative declarations or other statements made by the states parties the book begins with excerpts from general multilateral texts ranging from the universal declaration of human rights to the vienna declaration of 1993 this is followed by instruments governing nationality and statelessness materials relating to refugees and texts emanating from the council of europe the conference on security and cooperation in europe the european community and union and the international labour organization the selection ends with a miscellany of texts of general significance from the inter american convention on territorial asylum of 1954 to the convention of human rights concluded by the commonwealth of independent states in 1995 this publication is not intended for scholars alone but also for practitioners in migration law the texts are of practical significance for those concerned with the administration of the laws affecting migration and for representatives of those affected by these laws it also serves as a companion to richard
