this book is the immediate result of the co operation of a great number of scholars in the netherlands institute of government nig nig is an interuniversity research school as such it has a double task in addition to offering a ph d program to students in public administration it also is a research institute in which a great number of scholars from seven dutch universities participate and work on a common research program the chapters in this book are all products of the research program that started in 1995 this program had the ambition to explore the frontiers of the discipline in two respects first by studying a number of recent developments in society and their consequences for the functioning of government these consequences can be summarised as the development of a system of multi level and multi actor governance second by contributing to the knowledge of institutions both by studying what factors are most important in the formation and change of institutions and by studying the effects of institutions on the behaviour of actors in different political and administrative settings most contributions to this volume either have their origin in conferences organized by the nlg or were published as an nlg working paper we are grateful to marcia clifford and connie hoekstra who prepared the final version of the manuscript to ian priestnall who took care of the language editing and to an anonymous reviewer whose comments were gratefully used peter ho former head of the singapore civil service was the institute of policy studies 2016 17 s r nathan fellow for the study of singapore this book collects the four ips nathan lectures that he delivered between april and may 2017 and gathers highlights of his dialogues with the audience ho surveys the increasingly complex world and suggests what governments can do to prepare for the future even as no one can predict it he uses metaphors such as the black elephant and concepts like the dialectic of governance to explain how a systematic approach to thinking about the future can help countries in general and singapore in particular build resilience and develop a comparative advantage in the face of uncertainty and rapid change the ips nathan lectures series was launched in 2014 as part of the s r nathan fellowship for the study of singapore its primary goal is to promote public understanding and discourse of issues of critical national interest this book explores and analyzes governance and policy issues in south southeast and east asia it maps governance challenges and analyzes current trends from the perspectives of democracy public policy and public institutions regional public administration and governance systems have undergone some phenomenal changes over the last three decades and have played a key role in the economic progress of the area especially in the southeast and east asian nations rich with country specific evidence and analyses the chapters in the book apply empirical and other research methods to examine shifting paradigms and best practices this book develops an understanding of changes in the forms process and practices of governance both within the context of each nation and in a comparative perspective the book will appeal to scholars academics students and practitioners of public administration political science and policy issues the voting rights act of 1965 which originally was intended to prohibit barriers to black registration and voting has been hailed as a triumph for civil rights and as a catalyst for the election of minorities to public office in both the deep south and the urban north to advance its objective federal courts instructed many cities to change from at large to single member district electoral systems as a way to ensure that minorities had a reasonable chance to elect representatives of their choice in the first book to critique the implementation of this landmark legislation in a major american city ruth morgan examines its effect on local governance over forty years in dallas and shows that it had unintended consequences for racial politics representation and public policy breaking from studies that measure the success of the vra in terms of increased minority representation morgan assesses the consequences of the act for dallas city government and for the wider interests of minorities as well while endorsing the original intent of the vra morgan believes that this intent was subverted by subsequent amendments to the act and by the courts attempts to advance the political standing of particular minority groups she argues that court imposed single member districts have created in dallas a city council infected with parochialism and careerism a result of members no longer having to compromise to win citywide votes and have had an adverse impact on governmental effectiveness and voter turnout with corruption and cronyism now rampant voting rights legislation and litigation have ultimately failed to fulfill the hopes and aspirations of the unempowered and the district system has created an incentive for continued racial separation governance by decree offers a pointed assessment of the complexities and contradictions produced by the voting rights law while at the same time calling for the federal judiciary to exercise restraint in imposing its will when it lacks the capacity to make choices that are inherently political morgan s powerfully argued case study should inspire much debate and inform forthcoming congressional deliberations over the renewal of the preclearance section of the vra in 2007 a collection of lectures seminar papers and keynote addresses from the last thirty years by chief akinyele a top level nigerian civil servant the work is divided into four parts and covers government economic policies and the private sector government budgeting administration and public management and other topical issues which include chapters on university administration managing the church in the twenty first century and the responsibilities of voluntary organisations in nigeria broadly the papers argue for the need to narrow the gap between management practices in the public and private sectors in the interest of the health of the national economy they stress the overarching imperative of resource allocation principles in conditions of scarcity the need for a slimmer and more results orientated government and a better organised private sector equipped to assume the leadership of the national economy
