andrea cauduro andrea di nicola marco lombardi and paolo ruspini client have you ever had a by an albanian researcher no client you should have one they re great i ll tell you something between an exploited girl and a free one i choose the exploited one because a girl who s being exploited has to give money to her pimp otherwise she ll be beaten the others when they ve earned enough they stop working the exploited ones no even they don t want to work they have to stay there and if they don t pay the pimp they re beaten if you think about it you notice it is more a help than anything else we all know they're exploited so it's better to go with them otherwise they'll be slaughtered these two tough excerpts from interviews with clients of foreign prostitution stress the core point of this work there seems to be a different view a different logic that moves these men in their search for commercial sex this is the focus of the discussion and the main reason for this volume we have attempted to study the phenomenon of trafficking from a different and innovative perspective the demand trafficking in human beings for sexual exploitation and not only has involved all the European Union and more in general Western European countries in the past twenty years human trafficking a comprehensive exploration into modern day slavery examines the legal socio cultural historical and political aspects of human trafficking and modern day slavery while most texts only cover sex trafficking and labor trafficking this text takes a more inclusive approach provide coverage of what is currently known about organ trafficking child marriage and child soldiers as well these topics are explored within the borders of the United States as well as across the world the reality is that this problem is not limited to one country or even one continent technology and globalization have made this an international crisis that requires a collaborative and cooperative international response the goal of this text is to provide an accurate understanding of all forms of human trafficking and current responses to this crime trafficking in persons is a serious crime that affects the human rights dignity and integrity of all its victims including women men and children in the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) region ASEAN has made efforts to fight human trafficking through inter alia the establishment of regional counter human trafficking laws and human rights bodies to establish best norms and practices for its member countries nevertheless the International Labour Organization (ILO) recently declared that there are more than 11.7 million forced labor victims in the Asia Pacific region encompassing the biggest concentration of forced labour victims in the world this volume reviews the achievements and the deficiencies of ASEAN's counter human strategies at the national and regional level it offers suggestions for the reform of ASEAN's anti trafficking laws and for the creation of a regional anti trafficking human rights body specialized in preventing human trafficking promoting equal protection of all trafficking victims and prosecuting human traffickers this edited volume modern slavery and human trafficking is a collection of reviewed and relevant research chapters offering a comprehensive overview of recent developments in the field of modern slavery and human trafficking the book comprises single chapters authored by various researchers and edited by an expert active in the aforementioned research area each chapter is complete in itself but united under a common research study topic this publication aims at providing a thorough overview of the latest research efforts by international authors on modern slavery and human trafficking and opening new possible research paths for further novel developments human trafficking is widely considered to be the fastest growing branch of trafficking as this important book reveals it has moved rapidly up the agenda of states and international organisations since the early 1990s not only because of this growth but also as its implications for security and human rights have become clearer this fascinating study by international experts provides original research findings on human trafficking with particular reference to europe south east asia and australia a major focus is on why and how many states and organisations act in ways that undermine trafficked victims rights as part of quadruple victimisation it compares and contrasts policies and suggests which seem to work best and why the contributors also advocate radical new approaches that most states and other formal organisations appear loath to introduce for reasons that are explored in this unique book examining transnational crime human trafficking and its implications for human security from both western and asian perspectives this book assesses the extent of the problem outlines how it is perceived differently in different countries and the diverse social and legal policy reactions which have developed to address these issues human trafficking and the related problems of organised crime and prostitution has become a serious problem for post soviet countries since the dissolution of the soviet union human trafficking has a major impact on the countries of origin the destination countries and the countries of transit and is a concern for those studying population and migration economics politics international relations and security studies this book examines human trafficking from post soviet countries exploring the full extent of the problem and discussing countermeasures both local and at the global level and considering the problem in all its aspects it focuses in particular on the experiences of the baltic sea region setting out the nature of organised crime and the full range of threats against society this unprecedented study of sex trafficking forced labor organ trafficking and sex tourism across twenty four nations highlights the experiences of the victims perpetrators and anti traffickers involved in this brutal trade combining statistical data with intimate accounts and interviews journalist stephanie hepburn and justice scholar rita j simon create a dynamic volume sure to educate and spur action hepburn and simon recount the lives of victims during and after their experience with trafficking and they follow the activities of traffickers before capture and their outcomes after sentencing each chapter centers on the trafficking practices and anti trafficking measures of a single country australia brazil canada chile china colombia france germany india iran iraq israel italy japan mexico niger poland russia south africa syria thailand the united arab emirates the united kingdom and the united states examining these nations laws hepburn and simon reveal gaps in legislation and enforcement and outline the cultural norms and biases societal assumptions and conflicting policies that make trafficking scenarios so pervasive and resilient this study points out those most vulnerable in each nation and the specific cultural economic environmental and geopolitical factors that contribute to each nation s trafficking issues furthermore the study also highlights common phenomena that governments and international anti traffickers should consider in their fight against this illicit trade the sage handbook of human trafficking and modern day slavery provides a comprehensive interdisciplinary and global look at the diverse issues surrounding human trafficking and slavery in the post 1945 environment few subjects elicit greater moral outrage than human trafficking media reports of dehumanizing practices such as slavery abduction child prostitution and torture along with shocking statistics form the basis of public knowledge with sensitivity and candor this book addresses the reality of human trafficking in thailand dissecting studies presenting facts and dismissing stereotypes it focuses on the areas of fishing agriculture domestic work sex work and the trafficking of children weaving individual narratives and official studies into the wider history of thailand s changing economy and labor situation gridlock explores how migrant workers actual experiences in dubai contrast with the typical discussions and global moral panic about human trafficking the last few decades have seen a huge increase in attention paid to the trafficking of human beings often referred to as modern day slavery international and national policies and protocols have been developed and billions of dollars spent to combat the issue and protect trafficking victims yet it continues to flourish and human beings in both the global north and the global south continue to be degraded to the level of commodities and smuggled across borders for profit drawing upon feminist and human rights approaches to trafficking this book links the worlds of policy protocols and social structures to the lived experience and conditions of trafficked people recognizing that trafficking for sex labor and body parts often overlaps in a broader context shaped by poverty violence and shrinking access to rights the authors offer a more thoroughgoing account of this social problem only with such an integrated approach can we understand the exploitative conditions that make people vulnerable to trafficking and the progress as well as gaps in initiatives seeking to address it throughout the world vulnerable people are being deceived into entering abusive journeys whether in the organ trade exploitative labour businesses or forced criminality their lives will never be the same this book traces the journey of victims survivors of modern slavery and human trafficking into and within the uk from recruitment to representation to re integration using global comparative case studies it discusses recruitment tactics and demand prevention in supply chains issues with effective legal protection and care services and vulnerability to re trafficking it also examines the ideological misrepresentation of vulnerable migrants and victims survivors in media the film industry legislation and more rooted in diverse practitioner experience disciplines and empirical research this book bridges the experience research practice policy gap by bringing to the fore survivors voices in doing so it offers crucial suggestions for better public awareness policies and practices that will impact interventions in the uk and beyond reveals how accepted representations of human trafficking simplified by the media and even by governments and ngos seeking to stop slavery are incorrect inadequate and harmful examines how sex trafficking has been mobilized within anti trafficking policies across the globe this book also examines the dominant international framework drawing upon a diverse set of case studies australia serbia and thailand transnational crime and human rights offers an evaluation of the responses to the transnational crime of human trafficking and governance of the issue through a case study of the greater mekong subregion gms which comprises cambodia the people s republic of china lao people s democratic republic myanmar thailand and viet nam the book analyses the international and national legal policy frameworks and the role of governments international and national non governmental institutions and regional processes in responding to trafficking issues in the gms the book is based on the findings of a three year study conducted in the region involving interviews with more than 60 individuals from relevant organizations and agencies and examines the social political and historical factors including gender and age labour exploitation and migration which form the background to human trafficking in the gms the authors consider issues of competing mandates and gaps in strategies for protection and conclude with a discussion of broader lessons to be learned from the gms situation and suggestions for future governance strategies in the fight against trafficking human trafficking for the sex trade is a form of modern day slavery that ensnares thousands of victims each year around the globe women and girls make up the majority of victims of sex trafficking and heather smith cannoy patricia c rodha and charles anthony smith focus their analysis on the complex conditions that lead to trafficking of women and girls and the varied state responses to it the authors analyze sex trafficking in five countries india thailand russia nigeria and brazil this book furthers our understanding of sex trafficking by bringing to the forefront the cultural political and economic status of women in society the authors research demonstrates that state responsiveness to human trafficking is shaped by the rights afforded to women in these societies while combatting human trafficking is a multi scalar problem with a host of conflating variables a common theme in the effectiveness of state responses is the degree to which women and girls are perceived as and actually are full citizens the authors demonstrate that the objectification commodification and structural and cultural oppression of women and girls enables states to ignore or minimally address human trafficking an authoritative fact based survey examining the true extent and severity of human trafficking around the world written by an internationally recognized expert on the issue with over 40 million people still enslaved around the world this book takes a closer look at the role of culture in society and how certain practices beliefs or behaviors may be fueling human trafficking beyond what the law can curtail the study reveals cultural elements that conflict with existing anti human trafficking laws across three case studies united states india and costa rica there is no simple answer or a single solution to stop or significantly reduce the crime but a pragmatic multi disciplinary and human rights approach to the problem may bring to light that efforts to curtail human trafficking will be in vain if we rely on law alone a fundamental shift in culture is imperative
