a ground breaking and ambitious book that promotes a new understanding of morality one that will help us to solve society's biggest problems our brains were designed for tribal life for getting along with a select group of others us and for fighting off everyone else them but modern life has thrust the world's tribes into a shared space creating conflicts of interest and clashes of values along with unprecedented opportunities as the world shrinks the moral lines that divide us become more salient and more puzzling we fight over everything from tax codes to gay marriage to global warming and we wonder where if at all we can find our common ground a grand synthesis of neuroscience psychology and philosophy moral tribes reveals the underlying causes of modern conflict and lights a way forward our emotions make us social animals turning me into us but they also make us tribal animals turning us against them our tribal emotions make us fight sometimes with bombs sometimes with words and often with life and death stakes drawing inspiration from moral philosophy and cutting edge science moral tribes shows when we should trust our instincts when we should reason and how the right kind of reasoning can move us forward joshua green is the director of harvard university's moral cognition lab a pioneering scientist a philosopher and an acclaimed teacher the great challenge of moral tribes is this how can we get along with them when what they want feels so wrong finally green offers a surprisingly simple set of maxims for navigating the modern moral terrain a practical road map for solving problems and living better lives violence and nonviolence descriptively analyzes numerous examples of theorists definitions and characterizations of varying types of violence arguing that a commonsense view of violence and nonviolence is based on paradigm cases that most people generally agree consider as kinds of violence and nonviolence beyond these cases however mcreery argues that collectives of individuals form into politicized groups that share visions of these types of violence and nonviolence particularly in terms of what they believe to be legitimate kinds of violence and nonviolence in contrast to illegitimate kinds an understanding of violence and nonviolence requires a perspectival relational approach that situates the vulnerable human body as primary furthermore if nonviolence is to succeed as an effective political strategy then it must work as a kind of violence at least from the perspective of the adversary
