this is a book about contemporary literary and artistic entanglements word and image media and materiality inscription and illustration it proposes a vulnerable fugitive mode of reading poetry which defies disciplinary categorisations embracing the open endedness and provisionality of forms this manifests itself interactively in the six case studies which have been chosen for their distinctness and diversity across the long twentieth century the book begins with the early twentieth century work of writer and artist djuna barnes exploring her re animation of sculptural and dramatic sources it then turns to the late modernist artist and poet david jones considering his use of the graphic and plastic arts in the anathemata and next to the underappreciated mid century poet f t prince whose work uncannily re activates michelangelo s poetry and sculpture the second half of the book explores the collaborations of the canonical poet ted hughes with the publisher and artist leonard baskin during the 1970s the innovative late twentieth century poetry of denise riley who uses page space and embodied sound as a form of address and finally the contemporary poet paul muldoon who has collaborated with photographers and artists as well as ventriloquising nonhuman phenomena the resulting unique study offers contemporary writers and readers a new understanding of literary artistic and nonhuman practices and shows the cultural importance of engaging with their messy co dependencies the book challenges critical methodologies that make a sharp division between the textual work and the extra literary and raises urgent questions about the status and autonomy of art and its social role the images in the book of revelation confound even the most seasoned of interpreters in this book andrew r guffey argues that part of the confusion stems from the fact that the book of revelation was first and foremost a work to be seen but that few interpreters address the viscosity of the book the book of revelation and the visual culture of asia minor describes a connection between rhetorical discussions of ekphrasis visual culture and john s images a concurrence of images using theory and thick historical description guffey s analysis situates the text and its rhetorical performativity in the context of ancient visual and rhetorical culture arguing that revelation is not merely a work of literary craft but also of visual culture
