primary care medicine is the new frontier in medicine every nation in the world has recognized the necessity to deliver personal and primary care to its people this includes first contact care care based in a positive and caring personal relationship care by a single healthcare provider for the majority of the patient's problems coordination of all care by the patient's personal provider advocacy for the patient by the provider the provision of preventive care and psychosocial care as well as care for episodes of acute and chronic illness these facets of care work most effectively when they are embedded in a coherent integrated approach the support for primary care derives from several significant trends first technologically based care costs have rocketed beyond reason or availability occurring in the face of exploding populations and diminishing real resources in many parts of the world even in the wealthier nations simultaneously the primary care disciplines general internal medicine and pediatrics and family medicine have matured significantly

this 2006 volume provides a comprehensive discussion of communication between doctors and patients in primary care consultations it brings together a team of leading contributors from the fields of linguistics sociology and medicine to describe each phase of the primary care consultation identifying the distinctive tasks goals and activities that make up each phase of primary care as social interaction using conversation analysis techniques the authors analyze the sequential unfolding of a visit and describe the dilemmas and conflicts faced by physicians and patients as they work through each of these activities the result is a view of the medical encounter that takes the perspective of both physicians and patients in a way that is both rigorous and humane clear and comprehensive this book will be essential reading for students and researchers in sociolinguistics communication studies sociology and medicine there has been a huge increase in the constituency workload over the past few years adding to the pressure on members of parliament each member has a different way of working which means in considering sitting hours there are no mainstream options which are necessarily right or wrong the evidence suggests that the current balance of about 150 days over 34 weeks per year is broadly correct and should remain approximately as is the committee recommends that the house should be given the opportunity to vote on whether the house should continue to sit in september from 2013 onwards there is widespread recognition that there is no scope for any diminution in the time available to the house for debate and scrutiny of legislation the current pattern of 8 sitting hours on each sitting day between monday and thursday should therefore also continue subject to future decisions concerning friday sittings suggestions were heard that the house should sit normal working hours but that could be ill suited to the transaction of other important parliamentary business and needs of members whose constituencies are some distance from westminster the house should be enabled to come to a decision in respect of each different day the committee is also currently considering whether consideration of private members bills should be moved from fridays and programming of legislation the proposal of injury time to compensate for time spent on oral statements was deemed undesirable but the committee suggests that there should be a mechanism for backbenchers to question a minister between 11 00 and 11 30 on wednesdays this book is a groundbreaking attempt to rethink the landscapes of the social world and historical practice by theorising social haunting the ways in which the social forms figures phantasms and ghosts of the past become present to us time and time again examining the relationship between historical practices such as archaeology and archival work in order to think about how the social landscape is reinvented with reference to the ghosts of the past the author explores the literary and historical status and accounts of the ghost not for what they might tell us about these figures but for their significance for our constantly re invented re vivified re ghosted social world with chapters on haunted houses and castles slave ghosts the haunting airs of music the prehistoric origin of spirits marxist spectres freudian revenants and the ghosts in the machine ghosts landscapes and social memory adopts multi disciplinary methods for understanding the past the dead and social ghosts and the landscapes they appear in a sociology of haunting that illustrates how social landscapes have their genesis and perpetuation in haunting and the past this volume will appeal to sociologists and social theorists with interests in memory haunting and culture
