it takes courage to engage in the kind of deep transformational learning that so many people need in their lives and this book is designed to help find and nurture that courage in learners including those that are engaged in facilitating the courageous learning of others inspired by parker palmer s classic book the courage to teach the authors have carefully examined the learning side of the teaching and learning relationship and this book shares the resulting wealth of knowledge and experience with readers this book is informed by palmer s observation that the conversations in teaching can be organized around four questions what how why and who in this book the authors center learning instead of teaching as they ask what is the content of learning how do we learn why is it necessary what motivates us and who is the self that learns the authors have engaged in conversation with adult learners across the lifespan representing different ages social economic levels and approaches to learning drawing on these discussions their own experiences and the scholarly literature they weave a tapestry with threads of learning and teaching story and analysis that serve as warp and weft the authors pay tribute to the learner s journey in the fullness of the process and name the distinct forms of courage that learning takes in the concluding chapter the authors explore the implications for educational practice and offer guidance for any educator wishing to bring a courage to learn conversation to their community this book is an inspirational memoir that tells the story of mitchell linker s harrowing and hilarious journey from aspiring rock star to nonprofit major gifts fundraiser along the way linker reveals how he overcame his fear of asking for money by employing a fundraising philosophy rooted in honesty authenticity and empathy karl barth famously argued that all theology is sermon preparation but what if all sermon preparation is actually theology this book pursues a thoroughgoing theological vision for the practice of preaching as a way of doing theology the idea is not just that homiletics is the realm of theological application that would leave preaching in the position of simply implementing a theology already arrived at instead the vision in these pages is of a form of theology that begins with preaching itself its practice its theories and its contexts homiletical theology is thus a unique way of doing theology even a constructive theological task in its own right homiletician david schnasa jacobson has assembled several of the leading lights of contemporary homiletics to help to see its task ever more deeply as theological yet in profoundly diverse ways along the way readers will not only discover how homileticians do theology homiletically but will deepen the way in which they understand their own preaching as a theological task
