combat death in contemporary american culture popular cultural conceptions of war since world war ii explores how war has been portrayed in the united states since world war ii with a particular focus on an emotionally charged but rarely scrutinized topic combat death agnieszka soltysik monnet argues that most stories about war use three main building blocks melodrama adventure and horror monnet examines how melodrama and adventure have helped make war seem acceptable to the american public by portraying combat death as a meaningful sacrifice and by making military killing look necessary and often even pleasurable horror no longer serves its traditional purpose of making the bloody realities of war repulsive but has instead been repurposed in recent years to intensify the positivity of melodrama and adventure thus this book offers a fascinating diagnosis of how war stories perform ideological and emotional work and why they have such a powerful grip on the american imagination

how to persuade citizens to enlist how to convince them to fight in a war which was for many distant in terms of kilometres as well as interest modern persuasion techniques both political and commercial were used to motivate enlistment and financial support to build a factory of consensus the propagandists manipulated the public guiding their thoughts and actions according to the wishes of those in power and were therefore the forerunners of spin doctors and marketing and advertising professionals their posters caught the attention of members of the public with images of children and beautiful women involving them nourishing their inner needs for well being and social prestige motivating them by showing them testimonials in amusing and adventurous situations and inspiring their way of perceiving the enemy and the war itself whose objective was to make the world safe for democracy in the discourse of this strategy we find storytelling humour satire and fear but also the language of gestures recognized as important for the completeness of messages were the propagandists hidden persuaders who knew the characteristics of the human mind we do not know for certain however their posters have a personal and consistent motivation which this book intends to demonstrate in the summer of 2017 the newly arrived president of marine corps university brigadier general william j bowers ordered a lecture series the legacy of belleau wood 100 years of making marines and winning battles the series would include four lectures and it was to be supported by an anthology produced by history division providing readings to the students on the topics each lecture would cover the intent was to produce an anthology of lasting worth to marines broadly depicting keystone moments in the history of the corps during the century following the battle of belleau wood this volume presents a collection of 36 extracts articles letters orders interviews and biographies the work is intended to serve as a general overview and provisional reference to inform both marines and the general public of the broad outlines of notable trends and controversies in marine corps history provided by publisher by for and about marines is a nonfiction collection of notable quotes giving voice to u s marines throughout its storied and illustrious history each quote is set in historical context to give the reader a better understanding of where when and why the quote is included christian reid mrs frances tiernan wrote this her tenth novel in 1875 this book gave the north carolina mountain region its name a charming yet highly significant book also included is an 1877 nonfiction article by reid about the mountains copyright libri gmbh all rights reserved world war i coincided with a golden age of achievement in the art of poster design and all sides in the conflict employed the best talents to make maximum use of the poster s ability to stir emotions this book tries to re create a more innocent era in which a poster could be used to sell a war while the book is undeniably attractive it covers too much ground and is too unfocused despite the title posters from many countries are illustrated further too many nonposter forms of propaganda are considered instead of offering insights the text simply rehashes popular world war i history adequately covered elsewhere the general reader will find this sprawling study more confusing than enlightening
