maria of austria was one of the longest surviving renaissance empresses but until now has received little attention by biographers this book explores her life actions and management of domestic affairs which became a feared example of how an empress could control alternative spheres of power the volume traces the path of a castilian orphan infanta raised among her mother's portuguese ladies in waiting and who spent thirty years of marriage between the imperial courts of prague and vienna empress maria encapsulates the complex dynastic functioning of the habsburgs devotedly married to her cousin maximilian ii maria had constant communication with her father charles v and her brother philip ii while preserving her spanish background her unique intertwining of roles and positions allows a fresh approach to female agency and the discussion of current issues the rules of dynastic entente the negotiation of discreet political roles for royal women the reassessment of informal diplomacy and the creation of dynastic networks parallel to the embassies with chronological chapters discussing empress maria's roles such as infanta regent empress and a widow this volume is the perfect resource for scholars and students interested in the history of gender court culture and early modern central europe this book presents the first study of music in convent life in a single hispanic city barcelona during the early modern era exploring how convents were involved in the musical networks operating in sixteenth century barcelona it challenges the invisibility of women in music history and reveals the intrinsic role played by nuns and lay women in the city's urban musical culture drawing on a wide range of archival sources this innovative study offers a cross disciplinary approach that not only reveals details of the rich musical life in barcelona's nunneries but shows how they took part in wider national and transnational networks of musical distribution including religious commercial and social dimensions of music the connections of barcelona convents to networks for the dissemination of music in and outside the city provide a rich example of the close relationship between musical networks urban society and popular culture addressing how music was understood as a marker of identity prestige and social status and above all as a conduit between earth and heaven this book provides new insights into how women shaped musical traditions in the urban context it is essential reading for scholars of early modern history musicology history of religion and gender studies as well as all those with an interest in urban history and the city of barcelona the book is supported by additional digital appendices which include records of inquiries into the lineage of santa maria de jonqueres nuns development of the collections of choir books belonging to the convents of santa maria de jonqueres and sant antoni i santa clara janello torriani known in the spanish speaking world as juanelo turriano cremona italy ca 1500 toledo spain 1585 is the greatest among renaissance inventors and constructors of machines contemporary literates and mathematicians celebrated janello torriani and his creations in their writings it is striking how such fame turned into nearly complete oblivion leaving only a few clues of a blurred and distorted memory dispersed here and there this book wishes to show the central role that artisans formed in the vitruvian tradition played in demonstrating through practical mathematics an increasing and positive control over nature a step rooted in humanist culture and foundational for the understanding of those historical processes known as the scientific and the industrial revolutions by looking at dutch and portuguese systems of settlement and trade in western africa this book sheds new light on the formation of dutch and portuguese imperial frames forms of commercial organisation and their role on the seventeenth century atlantic
