this book presents a fresh perspective on rock art by considering how ancient images function in the present it focuses on how ancient heritage is recognized and reified in the modern world and how rock art stimulates contemporary processes of cultural identity making the present english version authorized by the publishers and heirs of m merimee is based on the third french edition new material of two sorts has been added however first the translator has been allowed to utilize an annotated interleaved copy of the precis 1922 in which the author and after his death his son henri himself a distinguished hispanist had set down material for the next revision this accounts for many inserted names and phrases and some paragraphs second the translator has rewritten and added with some freedom using patronage as a filter bosch relates the style content and function of these lavish manuscripts to the many sided ritual life of the cathedral and beyond that to its social and political role in efforts to forge spanish identity in the midst of the reconquista this book will appeal to art historians hispanists and all those interested in renaissance history and culture book jacket a study of literary theory in castile between 1400 and 1460

how medieval songbooks were composed in collaboration with the community and across languages and societies eloquent clearly argued times literary supplement today we usually think of a book of poems as composed by a poet rather than assembled or adapted by a network of poets and readers but the earliest european vernacular poetries challenge these assumptions medieval songbooks remind us how lyric poetry was once communally produced and received a collaboration of artists performers live audiences and readers stretching across languages and societies the only comparative study of its kind songbook treats what poetry was before the emergence of the modern category poetry that is how vernacular songbooks of the thirteenth to fifteenth centuries shaped our modern understanding of poetry by establishing expectations of what is a poem what is a poet and what is lyric poetry itself marisa galvez analyzes the seminal songbooks representing the vernacular traditions of occitan middle high german and castilian and tracks the process by which the songbook emerged from the original performance contexts of oral publication into a medium for preservation and finally into an established literary object galvez reveals that songbooks in ways that resonate with our modern practice of curated archives and playlists contain lyric music images and other nonlyric texts selected and ordered to reflect the local values and preferences of their readers at a time when medievalists are reassessing the historical foundations of their field and especially the national literary canons established in the nineteenth century a new examination of the songbook s role in several vernacular traditions is more relevant than ever it deals with a distinguished career which led the colombian artist from her early stage of windows and doors to a series of atmospheres in which she seems to leap through the frames of her earlier paintings to find herself before the light that is on the other side and was merely hinted at before the white canvases of her atmospheres luminous sparkling and full of matter in turn fulfill their cycle opening the way for a further stage which is marked by the recuperation of the object and a new and fresh approach to nature
