this book provides a comprehensive overview of the development of economics from its beginnings at the end of the middle ages up to contemporary developments it is strong on contemporary theory providing extensive coverage of the twentieth century particularly since the second world war the second edition has been revised and updated to take account of new developments in economic thought the long paper which gives the title to this collection and which has never before been published as paperback was initially an attempt to promote international academic understanding the economics department at the london school of economics had arranged a colloquy between two groups of russian and british economists and where the author asked to contribute a general survey of the present state of economic theory as taught in western centers for reasons which are explained in the opening section the author decided to adopt an historical approach and the notes on which the present paper is based were the result the remainders of the papers have as their common denominator a continuing interest in the history of economic thought beginning with a lengthy critique of schumpeter's magisterial history of economic analysis they range from an appraisal of bentham's continuing relevance to a review of robertson's lectures on economic principles with some special attention to john stuart mill both as a human being and as an economist they have been written at various times in the last thirty five years and minute scrutiny if such were thought to be worthwhile which of course it is not might detect some variations of emphasis particularly perhaps in the implicit valuations of marshall and his contribution in the papers on wicksteed and schumpeter's history respectively but in spite of a certain shift of perspective here the author thought it worthwhile to attempt substantial redrafting apart from the correction of obvious inelegances or actual errors the excision of some duplicating quotations and in a few cases the addition of supplementary material and references the papers are reproduced as originally written in each instance the author has given footnote acknowledgements of the place of original publication from the ancients to the moderns questions of economic theory and policy have been an important part of intellectual and public debate engaging the attention of some of history's greatest minds this book brings together readings from more than two thousand years of writings on economic subjects through these selections the reader can see first hand how the great minds of past grappled with some of the central social and economic issues of their times and in the process enhanced our understanding of how economic systems function this collection of readings covers the major themes that have preoccupied economic thinkers throughout the ages including price determination and the underpinnings of the market system monetary theory and policy international trade and finance income distribution and the appropriate role for government within the economic system these ideas unfold develop and change course over time at the hands of scholars such as aristotle st thomas aquinas john locke françois quesnay david hume adam smith thomas robert malthus david ricardo john stuart mill karl marx william stanley jevons alfred marshall irving fisher thorstein veblen john maynard keynes milton friedman and paul samuelson each reading has been selected with a view to both enlightening the reader as to the major contributions of the author in question and to giving the reader a broad view of the development of economic thought and analysis over time this book will be useful for students scholars and lay people with an interest in the history of economic thought and the history of ideas generally featuring original contributions from some of the leading contemporary figures in the history of economic thought this book offers new perspectives on key topics from smith's wealth of nations to the jevonian revolution drawing inspiration from the life and work of r d c black formerly professor of economics at queen's university belfast this book will be of essential interest to any serious scholar of economic thought
