decades before the term serial killer was coined h h holmes murdered dozens of people in his now infamous chicago murder castle in his autobiography holmes struggled to define himself in the language of the late nineteenth century as the first or as he labeled himself the greatest criminal of the age he had no one to compare himself to and no ready made biographical structure to follow holmes was thus nearly able to invent himself from scratch this book minutely inspects how holmes represented himself in his writings and confessions although the legitimacy of holmes accounts have been called into question his biography mirrors the narrative structure of the true crime genre that emerged decades after his death this book recalls an era when criticism could change the way we look at the world in the tradition of matthew arnold and edmund wilson james wood reads literature expansively always pursuing its role and destiny in our lives in a series of essays about such figures as melville flaubert chekhov virginia woolf and don delillo wood relates their fiction to questions of religious and philosophical belief he suggests that the steady ebb of the sea of faith has much to do with the revolutionary power of the novel as it has developed over the last two centuries to read james wood is to be shocked into both thinking and feeling how great our debt to the novel is in the grand tradition of criticism wood s work is both commentary and literature in its own right fiercely written polemical and richly poetic in style this book marks the debut of a masterly literary voice this revised and expanded handbook concisely introduces narrative form to advanced students of fiction and creative writing with refreshed references and new discussions of cognitive approaches to narrative nonfiction and narrative emotions in recent decades there has been a substantial turn towards narrative and life history study the embrace of narrative and life history work has accompanied the move to postmodernism and post structuralism across a wide range of disciplines sociological studies gender studies cultural studies social history literary theory and most recently psychology written by leading international scholars from the main contributing perspectives and disciplines the routledge international handbook on narrative and life history seeks to capture the range and scope as well as the considerable complexity of the field of narrative study and life history work by situating these fields of study within the historical and contemporary context topics covered include the historical emergences of life history and narrative study techniques for conducting life history and narrative study identity and politics generational history social and psycho social approaches to narrative history with chapters from expert contributors this volume will prove a comprehensive and authoritative resource to students researchers and educators interested in narrative theory analysis and interpretation education is in a constant state of renewal internationally where it responds to a number of pressing social political and cultural issues processes of globalization a number of conflicts and acts of terror economic and environmental crises have led to large waves of migration and asylum seekers arriving in countries with the hope of finding safer and more stable places to settle this in turn has led to cultural and religious pluralism being a key characteristic of many societies with corresponding issues of belonging and identity as well for many people there has been a shifting influence of and allegiance away from traditional religious frameworks with the emergence of new religious movements both peaceful and violent and a rise in popularity of spirituality and non religious worldviews which provide alternate frameworks for living healthy and ethical lives in order to prepare today s student for tomorrow s world one which is confronted by a range of risks and crises and which is being shaped by rapidly changing technologies educators and researchers are investigating new ways of equipping students to deal with these challenges and opportunities including the nurturing of spiritual wellbeing this book brings together the voices of many experienced educators to discuss ways to re enchant education and re enliven learning programs in response to these 21st century issues in an increasingly global and interconnected world it examines a range of international contexts including secular and religious educational settings and provides an avenue for visionary voices that identify problems and offer solutions to help shape a more promising education system that will prepare children more constructively and beneficially to flourish in their future worlds
