this book is a novel attempt to understand humanism as a socially meaningful cultural idiom in late renaissance east central europe through an exploration of geographical regions that are relatively little known to an english reading public it argues that late sixteenth century east central europe was culturally thriving and intellectually open in the period between copernicus and galileo humanism was a dominant cluster of shared intellectual practices and cultural values that brought a number of concrete benefits both to the social climber intellectual and to the social elite two exemplary case studies illustrate this thesis in substantive detail and highlight the ambivalences and difficulties court humanists routinely faced the protagonists johannes sambucus and andreas dudith both born in the kingdom of hungary were two of the major humanists of the habsburg court central figures in cosmopolitan networks of men learning and characteristic representatives of an erasmian spirit that was struggling for survival in the face of confessionalisation through an analysis of their careers at court and a presentation of their self fashioning as savants and courtiers the book explores the social and political significance of their humanist learning and intellectual strategies why do the nations rage why do the people waste their time with futile plans ps 2 1 we live in turbulent times and people are looking in every direction for answers this book is an effort by the author to put in print materials developed and used over a twenty five year career as a christian counselor it is the educational material without the interaction involved in face to face counseling the book examines the spiritual roots of a person s worldview and their impact on the decisions one has made over a lifetime it looks at the strategies a man has used to satisfy his deepest needs the book looks deeply into the soul of man by searching the mind and testing the truths a man believes and lives by it looks at man s emotional life and his struggles to master it and evaluates the intricate decision making process of daily life the book funnels this lifetime of information into four questions has your spiritual life enabled you to live a life described by fruits of the spirit how effective are you fulfilling your roles in life as a person are you living life on the basis of selfishness fear or love do you know how to abide in christ and walk the way the companion to central and eastern european humanism the czech lands is the first reference work on humanists and their literary activities in this region to appear in english it provides biographical and bibliographical data about humanist literary life between c 1480 and 1630 in two volumes organised alphabetically by authors names this first volume includes three introductory chapters together with more than 130 biographical entries covering the letters a l and a complete overview of the most recent research on humanism in central europe the interdisciplinary research team behind this companion paid particular attention to local approaches to the classical tradition to humanistic multilingualism and to bohemian authors participation in european scholarly networks the companion is a highly relevant resource for all academics who are interested in humanism and the history of early modern literature in central europe this collection of essays by an international team of experts explores the wideranging impact of renaissance humanism on sixteenth century england investigating areas as diverse as art education religion political thought literature and science the book offers fresh and challenging accounts of prominent tudor figures such as thomas more william tyndale and john foxe as well as historiographical overviews of the subject and a discussion of the fifteenth century background to tudor developments one of the book s central themes is the nature of england s fundamental cultural experiences in relation to continental europe well known scholars and poets living in sixteenth century france including erasmus ronsard calvin and rabelais promoted elite satire that corrected vices but spared the person yet this period torn apart by religious differences also saw the rise of a much cruder personal satire that aimed at converting readers to its ideological religious and increasingly political ideas by focusing on popular pamphlets along with more canonical works less rightly said shows that the satirists did not simply renounce the moral ideal of elite humanist scholarship but rather transmitted and manipulated that scholarship according to their ideological needs szabari identifies the emergence of a political genre that provides us with a more thorough understanding of the culture of printing and reading of the political function of invectives and of the general role of dissensus in early modern french society
