analysts generally agree that in the long term the biggest challenge to american hegemony is not military but rather china's economic rise this perception is spread in no small measure because xi jinping has in the face of patent military inferiority conducted himself much more boldly on the world stage than hu jintao meanwhile china has also begun conjuring up an alternative vision for global leadership now widely termed as the china model this book therefore offers a critical and comprehensive explanation of the china model and its origins using a range of case studies covering varying historical and geographical approaches it debates whether the chinese experience in the last three decades of economic reform should be interpreted as an answer to the reigning hegemony of neoliberalism or rather a further reinforcement of it to answer these questions it provides an investigation into what china may have learned from its east asian neighbours earlier economic successes it also examines how it is responding to and might even reconfigure the world political economic system as it develops fresh and potentially more powerful regulatory capacities providing a multi dimensional analysis of the china model the book will be of interest to students and scholars of chinese economics economic geography and chinese studies

please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 in a country in the early stages of development typically 75 percent of the population is employed in agriculture the problem with agriculture in pre industrial states with rising populations is that when market forces are left to themselves agricultural yields tend to stagnate or even fall 2 the question of efficiency depends on what outcome you are looking for big capitalist farms may produce the highest return on cash invested but that is not the agricultural efficiency that is appropriate to a developing state 3 the world of the home fruit and vegetable gardener is very familiar to the post war east asian peasant family with its mini farm the labor intensive gardening approach to cultivation gets more out of a given plot of land than anything else 4 the problem is that the gardening level of output needs so much labor if mr doiron gardened full time he might be able to maintain his yields for 1 000 square meters of land but that would still require ten mr doirons to earn 135 000 across one hectare before costs
