complex problems can only be overcome with complex solutions this dictum by Albert Einstein also applies to current world problems such as climate change species extinction the littering of our planet and the growing gap between rich and poor they overwhelm individual scientific disciplines therefore they can only be solved through transdisciplinarity i.e. beyond the individual disciplines in interaction with empirical knowledge of different provenance and philosophical reflection this first volume of the book series transdisciplinary management of social and ecological crises explains how transdisciplinarity is to be understood in general what approaches exist and how they contribute to solving the various world problems in this context the book addresses among other things the replacement of man's claim to dominion over nature the overcoming of culturally determined boundaries in human communities and integrative and agile management methods in business politics art and society it deals with a sustainable circular economy new forms of politics in the interest of all instead of a few learning from artists healthy and environmentally sound nutrition and spiritual mindfulness in dealing with oneself and other ways of life thus the book is aimed at a broad audience from different disciplines interested in the perspective of and interaction with other disciplines to solve global problems chapter methodology of transdisciplinarity levels of reality logic of the included middle and complexity is available open access under a creative commons attribution 4.0 international license via link.springer.com

this work presents an innovative ontological framework centered on the primacy of differentiation offering a profound rethinking of being consciousness and relationality drawing from philosophy science religion and technology the author articulates a layered model of reflexive differentiation r0-r7 which charts the emergence of complexity from biological individuation to ethical recognition of the other and ultimately to the open unfixed game of difference the text explores how differentiation operates as the fundamental structure underlying all forms of existence from genetic codes and linguistic systems to social structures and artificial intelligence it challenges traditional metaphysical paradigms by revealing that every act of differentiation is an expression of potentiality a groundless inexhaustible source of possibility through interdisciplinary dialogues with major philosophical scientific and mystical traditions ranging from phenomenology and structuralism to buddhist and daoist thought the book invites readers to engage with difference not as separation but as a dynamic creative force the ontology of differentiation dismantles hierarchical and fixed frameworks proposing instead a game of infinite freedom where difference resonates without domination this provocative study will appeal to philosophers scientists theologians and technologists interested in the intersections of being consciousness and potentiality it calls for sustained reflection on how we might attune ourselves to the ever unfolding movement of differentiation both within and beyond human experience
