currently businesses are forced to be more innovative than ever before organizations must be sensitive to global trends such as digitization globalization and automation and at the same time build resilience and flexibility to combat unexpected changes in customer demand the coronavirus pandemic is just the most recent and pronounced example of this new normal business necessity amidst the disruption many businesses are caught not knowing how to proceed how ought one pursue or achieve innovation for the company are there different innovation strategies why might a business leader choose one over the other the lean innovation cycle addresses these concerns by introducing a new multidisciplinary framework for both thinking about and pursuing innovation by taking key concepts from the quality management practices of lean and six sigma the framework augments these tools and disciplines by incorporating other problem solving and design techniques including human centered design the result is a view of innovation that many business leaders will find fits nicely into their existing paradigm of strategy and operational discipline after the introduction of the framework the book turns to understanding the differences advantages and tradeoffs in pursuing lean innovation in lieu of traditional technologically driven innovation approaches to this end the book considers issues of sustainability organizational strategy and competitive advantage the result is a thought provoking dialogue that informs the reader about the key considerations of how best to pursue innovation within their business and the business environment as well as the circumstances that might make one innovation strategy more congruent to an organization s culture goals and objectives than the other the disjuncture between the design intent of the developers of icts and the needs of the users has often led to surprising use of new technologies as users have refused to become mere agents of the designers individual users have adopted their own uses of icts based on the complex webs of relations and meanings in which they function as social actors instead of adjusting these webs to new icts they have fit the icts into their pre existing social webs often resulting in imaginative and creative uses of new technologies not envisaged by the original designers the contributions in this volume provide studies of such integrations of icts into the lives of human users and demonstrate that such uses should not be regarded as faulty or mistaken merely because they fail to meet the expectations of the original designers of the icts instead human users should be given precedence over icts and the creative uses of universal technologies by individual users should be emphasised and studied so as to move towards a better understanding and appreciation of the integration of icts into human lives this book was originally published as special issue of the information society
