In this synthesis of political philosophy public administration and American history Rohr seeks to legitimize the administrative state in terms of constitutional principle. He tries to show that the fourth or administrative branch of government is compatible with the plans of the framers both Federalist and Anti-Federalist of the U.S. Constitution and of the Bill of Rights. He argues that the combination of powers in administrative agencies does not violate the standard of separation of powers set forth in the Federalist especially by James Madison. The higher reaches of the career civil service fulfill the framers constitutional design by performing a balancing function originally assigned to the Senate and the career civil service en masse heals the defect of inadequate representation in the Federal Constitution.
