this text provides a comprehensive and authoritative introduction to the burgeoning discipline of human computer interaction for students academics and those from industry who wish to know more about the subject assuming very little knowledge the book provides an overview of the diverse research areas that are only gradually building into a coherent and well structured field it aims to explain the underlying causes of the cognitive social and organizational problems typically encountered when computer systems are introduced it is clear and concise whilst avoiding the oversimplification of important issues and ideas from a theological viewpoint this book explores the junction between the philosophical existential idea of the authentic self and its cultural appropriation the text builds on the theology of john macquarrie and the narrative formation of identity to construct a theological definition of authentic selfhood it then contrasts this definition with the common idea that authenticity in the moral sense can be used to justify any action the author argues that this is not genuine authenticity instead they consider that authenticity rests upon loyalty to something greater than oneself and for christians this is the character of the god in whose image they are created and are being formed this book is illuminating reading for students and scholars of theological anthropology pastoral theology ethics and moral philosophy this is the first book on buber to address the full scope of his seminal influence for any number of thinkers and fields from philosophy to psychotherapy to literary theory
