the term full reserve fr refers here to the system advocated by the following among others 1 laurence kotlikoff economics professor in boston see kotlikoff 2012 however for a quick introduction to kotlikoff s ideas see klein 2013 2 richard werner economics professor in southampton uk see werner 2011 3 milton friedman see friedman 1960 ch3 starting at heading entitled banking reform 4 james tobin economics nobel laureate see tobin 1985 1987 5 merton miller economics nobel laureate and co author of the modigliani miller theory 6 ben dyson founder of positive money see dyson 2012 7 john cochrane economics professor in chicago see cochrane 2013 8 irving fisher professor of political economy at yale in the early 1900s see fisher 1936 fr is sometimes called 100 reserve banking while german speakers use the word vollgeld the following few paragraphs are a brief summary of fr commercial banks create money when they make loans as explained by an article published by the bank of england mcleay 2014 and that freedom to create money is a subsidy of banks for reasons given by for example huber 2000 p 31 2nd paragraph as huber says if commercial banks can simply print the money they lend out rather than obtain such money in the same way every non bank firm obtains money i e earn it or borrow it then commercial banks can lend at an artificially low rate of interest or to put it more strongly as explained by the nobel laureate economist maurice allais private money creation amounts to counterfeiting see phillips 1992 another flaw in the existing bank system is that it breaks a widely accepted principle namely that it is not the job of taxpayers to rescue commercial ventures which go wrong that is while everyone has a right to a totally safe method of lodging and transferring money and while that activity is not inherently commercial anyone who wants their bank to lend on their money so as to earn interest is clearly into commerce in exactly the same way as where they deposit money with a private pension scheme stockbroker mutual fund unit trust or buy corporate bonds for governments to offer taxpayer backed deposit insurance for banks which invest or lend on money while not offering the same service for mutual funds etc which do the same is a glaring inconsistency

we are standing on the threshold of the robotic era the fourth industrial revolution the undeniable impact and consequences of robotics are already raising economic concerns such as the loss of income tax revenue as robots gradually replace human workers as well as legal doubts regarding the possible taxation of robots or their owners financial law must adapt to this new reality by answering several crucial questions should robots pay taxes can they do they have the ability to pay can they be considered entrepreneurs for vat purposes these are just some of the many issues that dr Álvaro falcón pulido lucidly and insightfully addresses in this fascinating new monographic work which includes an exhaustive bibliography on the subject
