publisher description

this is the ebook of the printed book and may not include any media website access codes or print supplements that may come packaged with the bound book for global studies courses across the curriculum ann kelleher and laura klein s global perspectives provides a broad analytical framework for understanding cultural economic environmental and political issues this brief multidisciplinary primer introduces the basic concepts needed to study global issues as well as the differing perspectives that scholars policymakers and individuals bring to these issues global perspectives helps students make sense of short and long term problems facing the world in the twenty first century historical and current events that led to and fuel these problems and the consequences of their choices in an era of globalization this student friendly introduction to global studies provides readers with an analytical framework that moves beyond academic debates about the definition of globalization the material is organized around substantive themes that are both accessible to students and relevant to what is going on in the world today the author begins by highlighting the deep historical interconnections between political economic and social forces that shape our world today the readings then focus on pressing real world issues such as global inequality neo imperialism racism environmental degradation and global women s movements the final section of the book explores critical perspectives on sustainable development human rights and global governance throughout the text abstract ideas are grounded in concrete highly relatable examples main points and key concepts are clearly listed to enhance review and comprehension integrated perspectives in global studies can be used in courses on political science international relations and globalization the book continually and explicitly connects the dots making it possible for students to easily understand complex issues and make the connections between them philip c mccarty ph d is an award winning lecturer in global and international studies and the co director of the australia travel studies program at the university of california santa barbara dr mccarty s degrees in sociology and anthropology inform his distinct historical and interdisciplinary approach and his wide ranging teaching experience emphasizes a student friendly approach to complex global issues the ability to deploy interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives that speak to interconnected global dimensions is critical if one s work is to be relevant and applicable to the emerging global scale issues of our time the global turn is a guide for students and scholars across all areas of the social sciences and humanities who wish to embark on global studies research projects the authors demonstrate how the global can be studied from a local perspective and vice versa they show how global processes manifest at multiple levels transnational regional national and local all of which are interconnected and mutually constitutive this book takes readers through the steps of thinking like a global scholar in theoretical methodological and practical terms and it explains the implications of global perspectives for research design this book invites educators to rethink how knowledge about the world is conceptualized advocating for a decolonized critical curriculum it emphasizes understanding diverse perspectives and addressing social differences like gender race and religion global governance from regional perspectives argues that the academic debate on global governance has neglected the combination of power with value constellations culture both input and output legitimacy for instance or the exercise of control and influence are inextricably related to culture worldviews and values the book questions theoretically the western hegemonic and hence invisible definition of governance and related concepts as well as the western hegemony over global governance institutions it looks from the ground up whether and how alternative practices institutions networks and concepts norms of global governance are emerging in relation to emerging powers and regional integration systems global governance from regional perspectives starts with a critical reading of global governance from multi disciplinary views and engages with two important and under studied aspects notably how global governance can be measured and what lies behind such measurements and questions the democratic deficit of global governance the book provides a series of regional and country perspectives on global governance which engage with a specific example of an institution process or issue that is used to highlight why and how the western hegemonic views and practices of global governance are or not contested the book offers a mapping of global governance phenomena in different regions of the world and a critical readings of those as such this volume is different from all international relations or political science collections on global governance and also opens up a new field of study that has been hitherto neglected in sociological or cultural studies integrated perspectives in global studies provides readers with an analytical framework that moves beyond academic debates about the definition of globalization the material is organized around substantive themes that are both accessible to students and relevant to what is going on in the world today this student friendly introduction begins by highlighting the deep historical interconnections between political economic and social forces that shape our world today the readings then focus on pressing real world issues such as global inequality neo imperialism racism environmental degradation and global women s movements the final section of the book explores critical perspectives on sustainable development human rights and global governance throughout the text abstract ideas are grounded in concrete highly relatable examples main points and key concepts are clearly listed to enhance review and comprehension now featuring essay questions at the end of each section integrated perspective in global studies can be used in courses on political science international relations and globalization the book continually and explicitly connects the dots making it possible for students to easily understand and connect complex issues the volume analyses major strategic and policy issues how to make science technology and innovation sti policies relevant for inclusive growth strategies in africa so that socio economic transformation strategies will take off the first part discusses the issues of human skills development as part of sti policies based on visions strategic plans and country cases for cameroon nigeria and mauritania the second part looks at sti policies for economic transformation focussing on country case studies for egypt and tunisia a third part presents book reviews and book notes global competition now shapes economies and societies in ways unimaginable only a few years ago and competition or antitrust law is a key component of the legal framework for global competition these laws are intended to protect competition from distortion and restraint and on the national level they reflect the relationships between markets their participants and those affected by them the current legal framework for the global economy is provided however by national laws and institutions this means that those few governments that have sufficient power to apply their laws to conduct outside their own territory provide the norms of global competition this has long meant that the us and more recently the eu structure global competition but china and other countries are increasingly using their economic and political leverage to apply their own competition laws to global markets the result is increasing uncertainty costs and conflicts that burden global economic development this book examines competition law on the global level and reveals its often complex and little understood dynamics it focuses on the interactions between national and international legal regimes that are central to these dynamics and a key to understanding them part i examines the evolution of the current global system the factors that have shaped it how it operates today and recent efforts to alter that system e g by including competition law in the wto part ii focuses on national competition law systems revealing how national laws and experiences shape global competition law dynamics and how global factors in turn shape national laws and experiences it examines the central roles of us and european law and experience and it also pays close attention to countries such as china that are playing increasingly important roles in the global competition law arena part iii analyzes current strategies for improving the legal framework for global competition and identifies the factors that may contribute to a system that more effectively supports global economic and political development this analysis also suggests a pathway for moving toward that goal language is the species specific human version of the animal system of communication in contrast to non human animals language enables humans to invent a plurality of possible worlds reflect upon signs be responsible for our actions gain conscious awareness of our inevitable mutual involvement in the network of life on this planet and be responsibly involved in the destiny of the planet the author looks at semiotics the study of signs symbols and communication as developing sequentially rather than successively more synchronically than diachronically she discusses the contemporary phenomenon that people in today's society have witnessed and participated in as part of the development of semiotics although there is a long history preceding semiotics in a sense the field is as a phenomenon more of our time than of any time past its leading figures whom petrilli examines belong to the twentieth and twenty first century semiotics is associated with a capacity for listening this capacity is also the condition for reconnecting to and recovering the ancient vocation of semiotics as that branch of medical science relating to the interpretation of signs or symptoms the pragmatic aspect of global semiotics studies the impact of language or signs on those who use them and looks for consequences in actual practice in this respect petrilli theorizes that the task for semiotics in the era of globalization is nothing less than to take responsibility for life in its totality previous editions published in 2003 2nd and 1998 1st this book provides a multidisciplinary vocabulary for explaining general issues and trends facing the contemporary world involving cultural diversity economic development the natural environment and international peace and violence it affords equal time to the analysis of global issues using alternative perspectives eight major case studies one for each of the central issues explored encourage the application of concepts and perspectives presented in the narrative it is the perfect compliment to any introductory ir text the acceleration of globalization and the rise of china are among the most important events in the 21st century globalization is a double edged sword for human society there is a strong belief among the international community that global governance is the most effective solution to most of our global problems in this volume chinese scholars contribute to the study of global governance by exploring ways to effectively face the tough challenges brought by globalization such as economic prosperity environmental issues and global security covid 19 offers a unique opportunity to transform the k 12 social studies curriculum but history suggests that changes to the formal curriculum will not come easily or automatically this book was conceived in the space between the dismantling of our old way of life and the anticipation of what comes next the authors in this volume leading voices in social studies education make the case that covid 19 has exposed deficiencies in much of the traditional narrative found in textbooks and state curriculum standards and they offer guidance for how educators can use the pandemic to pursue a more justice oriented critical examination of contemporary society divided into two sections this volume first focuses on how elementary and secondary educators might teach about the pandemic both as a contentious public issue and as a recent historical event the second section asks teachers to reconsider many long standing aspects of social studies teaching and learning from content and instructional approaches to testing book features guidance on how to teach about the covid 19 crisis as a recent controversial historical event examples of teaching approaches and classroom projects that align with the c3 framework lessons about covid 19 for use in k 12 classrooms as well as chapters on the history of pandemics and on how teachers can help students cope with death and grief a critical examination of the idea of american exceptionalism the role of race and class in u s society and fundamental practices within social studies education contributors sohyun an varenka servín arcos brooke blevins lisa brown buchanan yun wen chan ya fang cheng rebecca c christ christopher h clark kristen e duncan leonel pérez expósito anna falkner david gerwin maggie guggenheimer michael gurlea tracy hargrove jennifer hauver mark e helmsing david hicks karon lecompte kevin r magill catherine mas sarah a mathews carly muetterties amber neal katherina a payne noreen naseem
