in this paper we show that inequality is an important determinant of import demand in that it augments the standard gravity model in a significant way we interpret this result with the aid of a model in which tastes are nonhomothetic classification of products based on the correlation between household budget shares in the us and income into luxuries and necessities works very well in our analysis when we restrict the analysis to developed importing countries while the imports of luxuries increase with the importing country's inequality imports of necessities decrease with it furthermore we find that an increase in the level of inequality in the importing country generally leads to an increase in imports from developed countries and to a reduction in imports from low income countries nber website
