widely adopted this text critically evaluates the leading theories of international economic development from classical economic and sociological models to marxist poststructuralist and feminist perspectives no other book provides such comprehensive coverage or links the theories as incisively to contemporary world events and policy debates reexamining neoliberal conceptions of economic growth the authors show what a more just and democratic form of development might look like today

globalizing international theory adds to the literature on non western international relations ir theory by probing the question of what it means to globalize international theory the book starts with the premise that international theory is unfinished incomplete and homogenous because it provides a limited conception of the international which in turn derives from its partiality that reflects its narrow western centric bias the contributors argue that the ir vision of the world is projected through a polarizing western filtered lens rather than utilizing an objective set of explanatory tools for explaining world politics the reality is that orthodox ir theory only tells us why the west is best and why the rest should become like the west this means that international theory is not truly international in provincializing western international theory this volume navigates beyond the eurocentric and imperial frontier of the prevailing limited conception of the international to explore the hidden contributions to international theory which can be found in the non western world bringing in excluded non western conceptions of international theory highlights a broader conception of the international the book provides a framework for theorizing globally exploring the fundamental problems with western ir theory and how to overcome them this book will be used by advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students scholars researchers and ir theorists worldwide who are interested in non western ir theory it will help navigate the problem of internationalness in the face of the grand theoretical problem of our time the use and misuse of international theory in making sense of and responding to the complex global realities of the twenty first century
