baudrillard in plain english understanding simulacra simulation and hyperreality is your guided tour through the glittering disorienting world of jean baudrillard the french philosopher who claimed that reality itself had been replaced by its own reflection this is not a dry academic treatise it's a lucid darkly funny exploration of why the news feels scripted why politics looks like theater why we perform ourselves online and why every attempt to get back to reality feels like another filter with sharp wit and a sense of irony worthy of baudrillard himself this book explains who baudrillard was from marxist sociologist to metaphysical prankster what he meant by simulacra simulation and hyperreality why he predicted the internet before it existed how his ideas shaped pop culture from the matrix to black mirror to tiktok existentialism why both left and right misunderstood him completely and what might still remain of the real after postmodernism has eaten itself whether you're a philosophy student trying to decode postmodern theory an artist wrestling with authenticity or just someone who's ever thought this world feels fake this book will give you the tools and the jokes to understand why accessible irreverent and unsettlingly relevant baudrillard in plain english turns high theory into a mirror you can't look away from welcome to hyperreality please enjoy your stay moving away from the marxist freudian approaches that had concerned him earlier baudrillard developed in this book a theory of contemporary culture that relies on displacing economic notions of cultural production with notions of cultural expenditure this new collection gathers 23 highly insightful yet previously difficult to find interviews with baudrillard ranging over topics as diverse as art war technology globalisation terrorism and the fate of humanity

this book considers how neoliberal criminal law constructs racialised hypercriminals in a world of fake news and virtual reality where social media posts seem more real than the materiality of racial capitalism this book develops the idea of hypercriminality as a means of explaining how racial disproportionalities in the criminal legal system persist despite discourses of a post racial meritocracy drawing on critical race theory the work of judith butler and jean baudrillard's conception of the hyperreal the book considers how neoliberal legal discourse constructs and reproduces hyperreal racialised legal subjects the simulated violent figure of the racialised gang member rioter drug dealer or sexual predator is made to appear real through legal and evidential concepts such as dangerousness or bad character the belief that this simulation is real is deployed to justify the carceral state and masks the structural and racialised violence of capitalism itself revealing the hypercriminality of racialised legal subjects the book thus offers a timely critical legal intervention that aims to advance the urgent project of decarceration jean baudrillard is one of the outstanding representatives both of french poststructuralism and postmodernism because of radical criticism it was not possible for him to establish a logically coherent theoretical system the philosophical aspects of his work are specifically merged therefore into a critical asystematic fragmentarism which is the subject of this work from the critique of the political economy of the sign through critiques of rationalism reality progress truth history to the theory of simulation baudrillard s specific para concepts fatal strategy symbolic exchange seduction hyperreality pataphysics etc are constantly fragmentarily present in the development of his thought these concepts are baudrillard s attempt at disengagement from modern philosophy and his new unsystematic postmodern view of reality in general in the analysis of binary metaphysical oppositions reality simulation subject object knowledge seduction history end radical irradical nihilism metaphysics god pataphysics baudrillard is radically exclusive through the arbitrary preference of one over the other concept his ideas it is possible to conclude that these dualistic antagonisms are also paradoxically compatible in his system this compatibility is very close to the irrational mysticism of this thinker this book is a clear and lucid presentation of this unique brand of postmodernism to english speaking scholarship recent years have seen the rise of anti politics as a political phenomenon beyond this new rejection of the political class there has long existed a deeper challenge to the political itself identifying the work of derrida as a politics and that of baudrillard as transpolitics this book charts convergences and divergences in their approaches the matrix trilogy continues to split opinions widely polarising the downright dismissive and the wildly enthusiastic nevertheless it has been fully embraced as a rich source of theoretical and cultural references the contributions in this volume probe the effects the matrix trilogy continues to provoke and evaluate how or to what extent they coincide with certain developments within critical and cultural theory is the enthusiastic philosophising and theorising spurred by the matrix a sign of the desperate state theory is in in the sense of see how low theory or post theory has sunk or could the matrix be one of the master texts for something like a renewal for theory as now being mainly concerned with new and changing relations between science technology posthumanist culture art politics ethics and the media the present volume is unashamedly but not dogmatically theoretical even though there is not much agreement about what kind of theory is best suited to confront post theoretical times but it is probably fair to say that there is agreement about one thing namely that if theory appears to be like the matrix today it does so because the culture around it and which made it itself seems to be captured in some kind of matrix the only way out of this is through more and renewed refreshed theorising not less
