examining the many controversies associated with pitch standards in melbourne over more than a hundred years simon purtell discovers their impact on the tuning of the city s orchestras and organs as well as its defence municipal and salvation army bands this fascinating history involves famous local and touring singers conductors and organists including nellie melba malcolm sargent and william mckie revealing just how complex a problem it was to ensure that melbourne s music makers remained in tune harry potter and the cursed child has nothing on the saga of pitch pitch that cursed pitch the seemingly endless and frequently caustic attempts to establish a uniform performing pitch for music in the antipodes it is a typically melburnian drama of mixed deference to britain and stubborn upholding of local interests that the author so eloquently and patiently chronicles and it ranges from the almost theocratic intervention of dame nellie melba at the beginning of the twentieth century to the stanthorpe apple and grape harvest festival of 1972 at the same time it will have been a battle taking place comparably in all the major cities of the british empire and beyond though each with its peculiar twists and turns what simon purtell has done is show us in immaculate detail just how pervasive and intricate not to mention costly this tectonic realignment of a fundamental element of musical infrastructure must have been in all places over a very long period of time emeritus professor stephen banfield centre for the history of music in britain the empire and the commonwealth university of bristol
