from legendary playwright august wilson comes the powerful stunning dramatic bestseller that won him critical acclaim including the tony award for best play and the pulitzer prize troy maxson is a strong man a hard man he has had to be to survive troy maxson has gone through life in an america where to be proud and black is to face pressures that could crush a man body and soul but the 1950s are yielding to the new spirit of liberation in the 1960s a spirit that is changing the world troy maxson has learned to deal with the only way he can a spirit that is making him a stranger angry and afraid in a world he never knew and to a wife and son he understands less and less this is a modern classic a book that deals with the impossibly difficult themes of race in america set during the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 60s now an academy award winning film directed by and starring denzel washington along with academy award and golden globe winner viola davis the only african american playwright to win the pulitzer prize twice wilson has yet to receive the critical attention that he merits with 12 original essays this volume provides a thorough introduction to his body of work this book offers new essays and interviews addressing wilson s work ranging from examinations of the presence of wilson s politics in his plays to the limitations of these politics on contemporary interpretations of black aesthetics also includes an updated introduction assessing wilson s legacy since his death in 2005 contains three plays about twentieth century african american lives providing a detailed study of american playwright august wilson 1945 2005 this collection of new essays explores the development of the author s ethos across his twenty five year creative career a process that transformed his life as he retraced the lives of his fellow africans in america while wilson s narratives of pittsburgh and chicago are microcosms of black life in america they also reflect the psychological trauma of his disconnection with his biological father his impassioned efforts to discover and reconnect with the blues with africa and with poet activist amiri baraka and his love for the vernacular of pittsburgh playwright august wilson is best known for his american century cycle a sequence of ten plays including the pulitzer prize winning fences and the piano lesson that chronicle the lives of black americans in each decade of the twentieth century but behind the celebrated plays stands a complex man shaped by his hometown s vibrant black culture in august wilson s american century life as art laurence a glasco one of the foremost historians of black life in pittsburgh draws on wilson s early poetry archival material and original interviews with family members neighbors and friends to show how the city and its residents shaped the playwright and his work wilson s overlapping identities as an outsider warrior race man and poet helped him persevere in the face of setbacks weave real life observations with his poetry to craft memorable dialogue and compelling characters and portray the realities of race in america in ways that have resonated with theatergoers and readers ever since glasco uncovers the story of how the people and places of pittsburgh remained with wilson after he left his hometown shining through in a body of work that brought the struggles and triumphs of the black experience to a wide audience and changed american theater for the better the african american dramatist august wilson who was born in a pittsburgh slum in 1945 saw the first professional productions of his plays in 1981 and 1982 in little theaters in st paul minnesota and pittsburgh he had also begun sending his plays to the eugene o neill playwrights conference which sponsors workshops to develop the talents of young american playwrights the connecticut based conference eventually accepted a work in progress ma rainey s black bottom staged in 1984 and from that moment wilson s career took off like to use the title of his 1992 play two trains running with ma rainey wilson began a ten play cycle dramatizing different decades in the history of african americans in the twentieth century the other works in the still unfinished cycle include fences staged in 1985 joe turner s come and gone staged in 1986 the piano lesson staged in 1990 two trains running staged in 1992 and seven guitars staged in 1996 discussion and criticism of ma rainey s black bottom fences joe turner s come and gone and two trains running now a netflix film starring samuel l jackson winner of the new york drama critics circle award for best play this modern american classic is about family and the legacy of slavery in america august wilson has already given the american theater such spell binding plays about the black experience in 20th century america as ma rainey s black bottom joe turner s come and gone and the pulitzer prize winning fences in his second pulitzer prize winner the piano lesson wilson has fashioned perhaps his most haunting and dramatic work at the heart of the play stands the ornately carved upright piano which as the charles family s prized hard won possession has been gathering dust in the parlor of berniece charles s pittsburgh home when boy willie berniece s exuberant brother bursts into her life with his dream of buying the same mississippi land that his family had worked as slaves he plans to sell their antique piano for the hard cash he needs to stake his future but berniece refuses to sell clinging to the piano as a reminder of the history that is their family legacy this dilemma is the real piano lesson reminding us that blacks are often deprived both of the symbols of their past and of opportunity in the present in the dramatic vision of august wilson sandra shannon follows the playwright s path through each decade from the outset she considers how he uses poetry the blues romare bearden s art and other cultural artifacts to lead him to imagined sites of pain and resignation healing and renewal in the collective memory of black america it is in these places of defeat and victory shannon demonstrates that wilson creates drama as he excavates examines and reclaims the past although wilson diverts attention away from factual details and focuses on the human costs of family dislocation chronic unemployment or cultural alienation shannon illustrates how fully the plays are grounded in credible historical contexts from slavery and emancipation to the aftermath of world war ii the 1960s and the vietnam war moreover she identifies and analyzes the themes that recur in some plays and branch off in new directions in others including the dislocations that attended black migration to the north and communication gaps between black men and women as she examines each of the plays in wilson s dramatic history of the african american experience shannon conveys the broad range of his dramatic vision book jacket title summary field provided by blackwell north america inc all rights reserved a celebration of august wilson s journey from a child in pittsburgh to one of america s greatest playwrights august wilson 1945 2005 was a two time pulitzer prize winning playwright who had a particular talent for capturing the authentic everyday voice of black americans as a child he read off soup cans and cereal boxes and when his mother brought him to the library his whole world opened up after facing intense prejudice at school from both students and some teachers august dropped out however he continued reading and educating himself independently he felt that if he could read about it then he could teach himself anything and accomplish anything like many of his plays feed your mind is told in two acts revealing how wilson grew up to be one of the most influential american playwrights the book includes an author s note a timeline of august wilson s life a list of wilson s plays and a bibliography one of america s most powerful and original dramatists august wilson offered an alternative history of the twentieth century as seen from the perspective of black americans he celebrated the lives of those seemingly pushed to the margins of national life but who were simultaneously protagonists of their own drama and evidence of a vital and compelling community decade by decade he told the story of a people with a distinctive history who forged their own future aware of their roots in another time and place but doing something more than just survive wilson deliberately addressed black america but in doing so discovered an international audience alongside chapters addressing wilson s life and career and the wider context of his plays this 2007 companion dedicates individual chapters to each play in his ten play cycle which are ordered chronologically demonstrating wilson s notion of an unfolding history of the twentieth century it is 1936 and boy willie arrives in pittsburgh from the south in a battered truck loaded with watermelons to sell he has an opportunity to buy some land down home but he has to come up with the money right quick he wants to sell an old piano that has been in his family for generations but he shares ownership with his sister and it sits in her living room she has already rejected several offers because the antique piano is covered with incredible carvings detailing the family s rise from slavery boy willie tries to persuade his stubborn sister that the past is past but she is more formidable than he anticipated
