this book brings together works by two of the outstanding talents of soviet literature daniil kharms and alexander vvedensky it discloses a little known tradition of absurdism that persisted during the stalinist period a testimony to both the hardness of the russian imagination in the face of socialist realism and the vitality of an important cultural and literary tradition the largest section of my book is the collection of poetry that i have written over the last 30 years they are remarkable in part because they were written by a talented engineer in part because they were replaced by dreams as a way of keeping track of my subconscious mind as the years went by it s the last quarter of the book that i find most interesting it contains considerable personal history as i recover from the isolation lost in space of my childhood with mxed results both credit and blame for the parkinson s disease and the deep brain surgery done to ease its ravages but little of this needs to be repeated on the back cover of the book what i want there is in the manuscript 47528cecc as submitted 10 11 07 the record of each copyright registration listed in the catalog includes a description of the work copyrighted and data relating to the copyright claim the name of the copyright claimant as given in the application for registration the copyright date the copyright registration number etc
