in an eclectic career spanning four decades italian director riccardo freda 1909 1999 produced films of remarkable technical skill and powerful visual style including the swashbuckler black eagle 1946 an adaptation of les misérables 1947 the peplum theodora slave empress 1954 and a number of cult favorite gothic and horror films such as i vampiri 1957 the horrible dr hichcock 1962 and the ghost 1963 freda was first championed in the 1960s by french critics who labeled him the european raoul walsh and enjoyed growing critical esteem over the years this book covers his life and career for the first time in english with detailed analyses of his films and exclusive interviews with his collaborators and family the 1968 1969 czechoslovak crisis was first and foremost a major crisis of european detente while the prague spring was made possible by the immediate and unchecked consequences of early detente in europe its crushing sharply brought out the contradictions of detente as understood by the global cold war protagonists in a similar way as the czecho slovak crisis reflected the ambivalence at the heart of detente the west european communist parties responses to it revealed the ambivalence of detente as a context for radical social change either in the east of the west the scholarly literature on the pci and pcf has often in an unproblematic way understood the shift from cold war to detente on the european continent in the mid 1960s as a development essentially positive to these parties the present study argues against this and demonstrates how the shift from the cold war of the 1950s to detente in europe reformulated the impasse of revolution or radical change in the west rather than putting an end to it book jacket
