the domination of single subjects in academic programmes and institutions has recently been called into question literary studies are currently opening themselves up to the epistemological renewal that other fields can offer they are increasingly borrowing theoretical tools from other subjects in order to analyse the historical socio political and institutional conditions of the production of literary texts to identify the general discursive circumstances in which they emerge and to study the relationship between literature and other media similarly while subjects such as sociology history and political science have always been closely related if not literally spinoffs from one another as in the case of sociology vis à vis anthropology what becomes of their specificities when they borrow from geography to address space related issues from psychology to understand social actors individual motivations or from literary studies to make sense of individual or collective narratives the present volume accounts for experiments in research that overstep disciplinary boundaries by analysing the new fields and methodologies emerging in the contemporary globalised academic environment which puts a strong premium on synergism and linkages moreover it assesses current theoretical reflections on inter multi and transdisciplinarity as well as research grounded in it and measures their impact on the evolution of scholarship and curriculum in the fields of literature language and humanities this book is about the teaching and study of the humanities in our universities it addresses humanities educators whose job it is to teach undergraduate students researchers into the processes of teaching and learning involved and higher education policy makers the book aims to stimulate discussion among them of the proper purposes processes and outcomes of this form of education and in the process it aims to help define and develop the new field of arts and humanities higher education ahhe in the humanities as in other academic domains of higher education a public discourse of teaching and of students learning is presently underdeveloped this may seem surprising given the long history of the university as an institution and the huge resources devoted to higher education in many countries but there are of course reasons for it first until very recently there has been no profession of teacher education focused on the academy simply academics have needed neither training nor qualification as teachers of their subject so that no one has been required to make teacher education their business or teaching learning in 2 higher education their special field of interest as regards schooling the the label arts and humanities higher education reflects the fact that the humanities subjects classics cultural studies history art history european studies languages literature philosophy religious studies etc are usually taught in the faculty of arts in uk universities the book does not include discussion of the fine or performing arts except incidentally
