the interdisciplinary study of law and literature can help us better understand intersectionality and vice versa intersectional feminist perspectives are extremely valuable in the study of law and literature of course neither feminist nor intersectional approaches are new in and of themselves for decades literary scholarship has studied the impact of particular constellations of gender race and class when it comes to representations of women in literary texts and has succeeded in shaking monolithic and stereotypical notions of womanhood however research at the intersection of law literature and feminism has so far been limited and insular bringing together more than twenty international researchers from related disciplines this volume is the first to bring questions of intersectional feminism to the forefront of law and literature scholarship from reproductive and trans gender justice in law and literature to feminist practices that intervene in judicial discourse this volume brings into focus a wide range of cultural and legal phenomena in which gender and the law intersect in literary texts the volume s commitment to intersectionality fittingly extends to its very make up the contributors were selected to represent a diverse range of positions in terms of their gender career stage and nationality

1 global bestseller with more than 8 million copies sold meet elizabeth zott a gifted research chemist absurdly self assured and immune to social convention the washington post in 1960s california whose career takes a detour when she becomes the unlikely star of a beloved tv cooking show stream on apple tv this novel is irresistible satisfying and full of fuel the new york times book review and witty sometimes hilarious the catch 22 of early feminism stephen king via twitter a best book of the year the new york times washington post npr oprah daily entertainment weekly newsweek chemist elizabeth zott is not your average woman in fact elizabeth zott would be the first to point out that there is no such thing as an average woman but it s the early 1960s and her all male team at hastings research institute takes a very unscientific view of equality except for one calvin evans the lonely brilliant nobel prize nominated grudge holder who falls in love with of all things her mind true chemistry results but like science life is unpredictable which is why a few years later elizabeth zott finds herself not only a single mother but the reluctant star of america s most beloved cooking show supper at six elizabeth s unusual approach to cooking combine one tablespoon acetic acid with a pinch of sodium chloride proves revolutionary but as her following grows not everyone is happy because as it turns out elizabeth zott isn t just teaching women to cook she s daring them to change the status quo laugh out loud funny shrewdly observant and studded with a dazzling cast of supporting characters lessons in chemistry is as original and vibrant as its protagonist

when jodi bondi norgaard an experienced entrepreneur attempted to shake up the toy industry with a sports doll that appeals to today s more athletic adventurous girls she came to realize the roadblocks to success weren t only reluctant toy buyers but a patriarchal culture that perpetuates gender roles and sexism more than a doll is about her mission to break gender stereotypes and challenge the status quo through illuminating testimonials data research interviews and cultural observations readers will come away with clear examples of the dangers of early gender stereotyping and how we continue to fail to see the harm after all it s just a toy it s just a t shirt it s just a show bondi norgaard is sounding the siren that gender inequality doesn t begin in our teens it begins the moment a child can hold a toy or book or watch a screen the programming starts early and the impact is lifelong this volume explores the theme of age and aging uniquely combining personal reflections from literature professors with sound scholarly analysis of a range of fiction and poetry bringing together leading literary scholars this collection of essays covers a range of writers and texts representing both the canon and new voices by combining the chapter authors expertise as literary and cultural critics with their own responses to novels short stories and poems the book offers new insights into the life trajectories made available to fiction and poetry readers through compelling narrative and vivid literary representation shortlisted for the Nigeria Prize for Literature read with Jenna Book Club pick as featured on today's NPR best book of the year a vibrant coming of age story Charmaine Wilkerson I was completely immersed in the prose from the acclaimed author of Wahala a stunning reimagining of Jane Austen's Mansfield Park split between England and Nigeria two extraordinary cousins are set on vastly different paths as they come to terms with their shared family history a masterful exploration of race identity and love Quiet Funke is happy in Nigeria she loves her art teacher mother her professor father and even her annoying little brother most of the time but when tragedy strikes she's sent to England a place she knows only from her mother's stories to her dismay she finds the much lauded estate dilapidated the food tasteless the weather grey worse still her mother's family are cold and distant with one exception her cousin Liv free spirited Liv has always wanted to break free of her joyless family she becomes fiercely protective of her little cousin and her warmth and kindness give Funke a place to heal the two girls grow into adulthood the closest of friends but the choices their mothers made haunt funke and liv and when a second tragedy occurs their friendship is torn apart against the long shadow of their shared family history each woman will struggle to chart a path forward separated by country misunderstanding and ambition moving between somerset and lagos over the course of two decades this motherless land is a sweeping examination of identity culture race and love that asks how we find belonging and whether a family s generational wrongs can be righted elizabeth zott is a chemist not the typical female the first to point out that there is no such thing is elizabeth zott in fact but since her hastings research institute staff is entirely male and it s the early 1960s their perspective on equality is somewhat unscientific with one exception calvin evans the misanthropic bright and nobel prize nominee who ironically falls in love with her mind the outcomes of true chemistry life is irrational just like science in light of this elizabeth zott discovers herself to be a single mother a few years later and the reluctant star of supper at six the nation s most adored cookery program an elegant deluxe edition of the 1 new york times bestseller marking the 2nd anniversary of its publication that will make the perfect gift or treat for yourself chemist elizabeth zott is not your average woman in fact elizabeth zott would be the first to point out there is no such thing but it s the early 1960s and her all male team at hastings research institute take a very unscientific view of equality when she finds herself unwed and pregnant she s forced out reluctantly taking a job as the host of the tv cooking show supper at six but elizabeth has no intention of sticking to the recipe instead she teaches women what they re really made of at the molecular level and in doing so dares them to change the status quo warm and wise frankie is a woman worth getting to know bonnie garmus new york times bestselling author of lessons in chemistry from the internationally bestselling author and host of the graham norton show a dazzling and decades sweeping story about love bravery and what it means to live a significant life always on the periphery looking on young frankie howe was never quite sure enough of herself to take center stage after all life had already judged her harshly now old frankie finds it easier to forget the life that came before then damian a young irish caretaker arrives at her london flat there to keep an eye on her as she recovers from a fall a memory is sparked and the past crackles into life as damian listens to the story frankie has kept stored away all these years traveling from post war ireland to 1960s new york a city full of art larger than life characters and turmoil frankie shares a world in which
