literature on women development and environment is abundant the relationship between women and ecology has been analyzed by various disciplines by specialists from the north as well as the south this book offers a new perspective specifically to challenge the assumption that women have a special affinity with the earth and therefore a historic mission for the care of the environment the book explores spiritual religious and philosophical beliefs concerning women and ecology and whether women are truly sacred custodians of the earth this concept has evolved from ideas developed by eco feminists whether and how different belief systems can be put to use to create an awareness to protect preserve and improve ecological conditions is discussed the collection of papers demonstrates the complexity of the issues and the variations and vulnerability of the assumed relationship between women and the environment in different cultural and political contexts the book challenges policy solutions which are devised to be on a global scale and to create unrealistic global aspirations and the value of targeting women in a particular attempt to achieve environmentally sustainable development since the late twentieth century there has been a strategic campaign to recover the impact of victorian women writers in the field of english literature however with the increased understanding of the importance of interdisciplinarity in the twenty first century there is a need to extend this campaign beyond literary studies in order to recognise the role of women writers across the nineteenth century a time that was intrinsically interdisciplinary in approach to scholarly writing and public intellectual engagement
