a growing flow of visitors in the 19th century turned the alhambra into a touristic destination and a major trope of orientalism created by western authors and artists from francois rene de chateaubriand to owen jones and from washington irving to jean leon gerome yet behind this western infatuation lie scores of oriental observers of the monument as revealed by its visitors book kept since 1829 this book uses this untapped source to analyse the perceptions of the alhambra by multiple actors including westerners spaniards maghrebines ottoman turks christian arabs and muslim arabs from the mashreq in doing so it reveals the existence of significant variations in both western and oriental perceptions of the monument from oriental orientalism to arab nationalism examining the contemporary press memoirs travelogues and photographs as well as the visitors book it uses the alhambra to build a history of the complex and entangled relations between east and west north and south islam and christianity centre and periphery during the heyday of orientalism and western hegemony
