There is growing awareness that business schools need to teach students how to be managers rather than to teach about management in managerial skills. Leaders of this skill development movement provide comprehensive coverage on how to set up and evaluate a management skills programme in a university or business setting.

Reflecting the growing movement toward more complete inclusion of students with disabilities in the mainstream of education, this text emphasizes the needs of special learners and how regular classroom teachers can effectively meet these needs. A practical, easy-to-follow three-part organization provides the following information: 1. A history of education for handicapped individuals and of legislation which governs service delivery; 2. Specifics of the nature of exceptionalities and how characteristics help determine instructional needs; and 3. Instructional strategies most likely to be effective with special needs learners.
