development in modern africa past and present perspectives contributes to our understanding of africa s experiences with the development process it does so by adopting a historical and contemporary analysis of this experience the book is set within the context of critiques on development in africa that have yielded two general categories of analysis skepticism and pessimism while not overlooking the shortcomings of development the themes in the book express an optimistic view of africa s development experiences highlighting elements that can be tapped into to enhance the condition of african populations and their states by using case studies from precolonial colonial and postcolonial africa contributors to the volume demonstrate that human instincts to improve material social and spiritual words are universal they are not limited to the western world which the term and process of development are typically associated with before and after contact with the west africans have actively created institutions and values that they have actively employed to improve individual and community lives this innovative spirit has motivated africans to integrate or experiment with new values and structures challenges and solutions to human welfare that resulted from contact with colonialism and the postcolonial global community the book will be of interest to academics in the fields of history african studies and regional studies about the publication the law on education and educational practices in south africa would exhaust the capacity of any meaningful monograph instead the authors of this book engage six discrete topics that refl ect the broader currents and conflicts in south african education debates a school choice b school fees c the right to an adequate basic education d single medium public schools e school governing bodies and f independent schools the book has two further aims first to move beyond the debates taking place separately in the education policy community and the legal academy and to demonstrate how these disciplines working in concert with each other can advance our understanding of law and education in south africa second to show that the anc s complex education agenda must mirror the egalitarian utilitarian democratic and communitarian commitments found within the constitution how these competing political claims reflected in our basic law play themselves out in the enabling education legislation the case law and government education policy frames each topic assayed in this work about the editor stu woolman is the academic director at the south africa institute for advanced constitutional public human rights and international law brahm fleisch is associate professor in the division of education leadership and policy studies in wits school of education this study outlines the difficulties poor communities face in accessing peri urban land in south africa that could have implications and lessons for similar communities in other countries facing spatial segregation issues in search of land and housing in the new south africa focused on one community composed largely of laid off farm workers that wanted to buy their own farm in a peri urban area west of johannesburg their dream was to establish a mixed use settlement they wanted to call the village ethambalethu our hope about 250 families started their own association and savings scheme to make their dream a reality by 1997 they had saved enough money to make their first purchase offer a decade later the community s dream is still not a reality the families have faced numerous obstacles two cancelled sale agreements wrongful arrest being sued in court an out of court settlement for which community members were paid to not move into the white neighborhood and large sums of their own money spent on consultants and environmental impact studies in an agreement with the mogale city municipality where the land is located the community now has at least a confirmed right to occupy the land but it does not yet legally own the land and is still trying to get permission to build on and work the land the case of ethembalethu is not unique millions of black south africans live in peri urban areas yet government programs development planning and environmental regulations and the current land and housing markets do not support realization of their aspirations to become homeowners on sites of their choice under the aegis of the post apartheid government much emphasis has been placed on the transformation and democratisation of the heritage sector in south africa since 1994 the emergent new landscape of memory relies heavily on commemorative monuments memorials and statues aimed at reconciliation nation building and the creation of a shared public history but not everyone identifies with these new symbolic markers and their associated interpretation of the past drawing on a number of theoretical perspectives this book critically investigates the flourishing monument phenomenon in south africa the political discourses that fuel it its impact on identity formation its potential benefits and most importantly its ambivalences and contradictions this book combines the results of the research activities in the assessment of water resources environment and an integrated water resource monitoring program to support preservation efforts of the aquatic environment of the cradle of humankind coh world heritage sites a poor understanding of the surface and groundwater resources of the coh property has precipitated often alarmist reporting in the media regarding the negative impacts associated with various sources of poor quality water the most notable of these is the acid mine drainage threat to karst ecosystems and fossil sites across the property these circumstances have generated wide and considerable concern for the preservation of the unesco inscribed fossil sites and integrity of the water resources of the property
