everyone in shaker heights was talking about it that summer how isabelle the last of the richardson children had finally gone around the bend and burned the house down all spring the gossip had been about little mirabelle mccullough or depending which side you were on may ling chow and now at last there was something new and sensational to discuss a little after noon on that saturday in may the shoppers pushing their grocery carts in heinen s heard the fire engines wail to life and careen away toward the duck pond by a quarter after twelve there were four of them parked in a haphazard red line along parkland drive where all six bedrooms of the richardson house were ablaze and everyone within a half mile could see the smoke rising over the trees like a dense black thundercloud later people would say that the signs had been there all along that izzy was a little lunatic that there had always been something off about the richardson family that as soon as they heard the sirens that morning they knew something terrible had happened by then of course izzy would be long gone leaving no one to defend her and people could and did say whatever they liked at the moment the fire trucks arrived though and for quite a while afterward no one knew what was happening neighbors clustered as close to the makeshift barrier a police cruiser parked crosswise a few hundred yards away as they could and watched the firefighters unreel their hoses with the grim faces of men who recognized a hopeless cause across the street the geese at the pond ducked their heads underwater for weeds wholly unruffled by the commotion mrs richardson stood on the tree lawn clutching the neck of her pale blue robe closed although it was already afternoon she had still been asleep when the smoke detectors had sounded she had gone to bed late and had slept in on purpose telling herself she deserved it after a rather difficult day the night before she had watched from an upstairs window as a car had finally pulled up in front of the house the driveway was long and circular a deep horseshoe arc bending from the curb to the front door and back so the street was a good hundred feet away too far for her to see clearly and even in may at eight o'clock it was almost dark besides but she had recognized the small tan volkswagen of her tenant mia its headlights shining the passenger door opened and a slender figure emerged leaving the door ajar mia's teenage daughter pearl the dome light lit the inside of the car like a shadow box but the car was packed with bags nearly to the ceiling and mrs richardson could only just make out the faint silhouette of mia's head the messy topknot perched at the crown of her head pearl bent over the mailbox and mrs richardson imagined the faint squeak as the mailbox door opened then shut then pearl hopped back into the car and closed the door the brake lights flared red then winked out and the car pattered off into the growing night with a sense of relief mrs richardson had gone down to the mailbox and found a set of keys on a plain ring with no note she had planned to go over in the morning and check the rental house on winslow road even though she already knew that they would be gone this important and timely collection examines the troubling proliferation of anti feminist language and concepts in contemporary media culture edited by michele white and diane negra these curated essays offer a critical means of considering how contemporary media politics and digital culture function especially in relation to how they simultaneously construct and displace feminist politics women s bodies and the rights of women and other disenfranchised subjects the collection explores the simplification and disparagement of feminist histories and ongoing feminist engagements the consolidation of all feminisms into a static and rigid structure and tactics that are designed to disparage women and feminists as a means of further displacing disenfranchised people s identities and rights the book also highlights how it is becoming more imperative to consider how anti feminisms including hostilities towards feminist activism and theories are amplified in times of political and social unrest and used to instigate violence against women people of color and lgbtqia individuals a must read for students and scholars of media culture and communication studies gender studies and critical race studies with an interest in feminist media studies what does it mean to be asian american should asian american identity be construed primarily in cultural terms or racial terms and why should contemporary theology care about such questions disciplined by race theological ethics and the problem of asian american identity reveals the critical importance of asian american experience for contemporary theological debates on race the book challenges readers to move beyond conventional perceptions of asian americans as model minorities and to confront the ways in which asian americans are socially restrained by whiteness rather than being insulated from the logics of white racism in the modern united states being asian american is tragically defined by those logics coming to grips with how asian americans are disciplined by race reveals the prospects for asian american self determination and raises the question of whether resistance to the social demands and allure of whiteness is realistically possible for asian americans and non asian americans alike
