this is the fourth and fi nal volume of lester l grabbe s four volume history of the second temple period collecting all that is known about the jews during the period in which they were ruled by the roman empire based directly on primary sources such as archaeology inscriptions jewish literary sources and greek roman and christian sources this study includes analysis of the jewish diaspora mystical and gnosticism trends and the developments in the temple the law and contemporary attitudes towards judaism spanning from the reign of herod archelaus to the war with rome and roman control up to 150 ce this volume concludes with grabbe s holistic perspective on the jews and judaism in the second temple period the essays in this second volume by kenneth stow explore the fate of jews living in rome directly under the eye of the pope most roman jews were not immigrants some had been there before the time of christ nor were they cultural strangers they spoke roman italian ate and dressed as did other romans and their marital practices reflected roman noble usage rome s jews were called cives but unequal ones and to resolve this anomaly paul iv closed them within ghetto walls in 1555 the rest of europe would resolve this crux in the late eighteenth century through civil emancipation in its essence the ghetto was a limbo from which only conversion promoted through disciplining par excellence offered an exit nonetheless though increasingly impoverished rome s jews preserved culture and reinforced family life even many women s rights a system of consensual arbitration enabled a modicum of self governance yet rome s jews also came to realize that they had been expelled into the ghetto nostro ghet a document of divorce as they called it there they would remain segregated so long as they remained jews such are the themes that the author examines in these essays how fitting it is that after some thirty five years since the appearance of his original anchor bible commentary on hebrews professor george wesley buchanan again turns his hand to this challenging document of early christianity now as an intertextual commentary here he further elaborates upon his novel thesis that hebrews 1 12 is a midrashic sermon based on psalm 110 giving special attention throughout to its frequent use of scripture the commentary in a way represents vintage buchanan it is at once fresh bold provocative suggestive learned and filled with helpful insight buchanan is equally conversant with ancient sources and modern scholarship including recent archaeology his masterful knowledge of judaism displayed in many publications over the years pays rich dividends in the commentary buchanan is never dull never predictable never does one have the feeling that one is getting things second hand on the contrary it is continually evident that one is reading the result of a direct fresh encounter with the text above all buchanan does what he also asks his readers to do think for yourself knowledge after all will not progress if one accepts only traditional and settled opinions on everything this is anything but just another commentary on hebrews it will engage and challenge readers as very few commentaries do therefore i am happy to recommend it donald a hagner george eldon ladd professor of new testament fuller theological seminary
