in the 21st century new ethnic groups are forming faster than ever before and the role of race and ethnicity studies has evolved in response to this from policy issues around housing and crime through to debates about asylum and media representations sociologists must encounter and explore a vast range of issues in this ever changing field this book gives an overview of the most important topics that affect the making of race and ethnic relations in contemporary societies it goes beyond general definitions to explain exactly how and what these issues and debates can tell us about modern society using research and statistics to shed light on the most cutting edge issues the book takes each major topic in turn and helps readers to think through race and ethnicity on the basis of the most recent thinking in the field each chapter explains a range of theoretical and conceptual perspectives whilst approaching complex ideas in an accessible and insightful way written and edited by recognized experts in the field race and ethnicity in the 21st century will be an essential point of reference for researchers and practitioners and key reading for all students of race and ethnicity what do we mean in the u s today when we use the terms race and ethnicity what do we mean and what do we understand when we use the five standard race ethnic categories white black asian native american and hispanic most federal and state data collection agencies use these terms without explicit attention and thereby create categories of american ethnicity for political purposes davora yanow argues that race and ethnicity are socially constructed concepts not objective scientifically grounded variables and do not accurately represent the real world she joins the growing critique of the unreflective use of race and ethnicity in american policymaking through an exploration of how these terms are used in everyday practices her book is filled with current examples and analyses from a wealth of social institutions health care education criminal justice and government at all levels the questions she raises for society and public policy are endless yanow maintains that these issues must be addressed explicitly publicly and nationally if we are to make our policy and administrative institutions operate more effectively the routledge handbook of race and ethnicity in asia introduces theoretical approaches to the study of race ethnicity and indigeneity in asia beyond those commonly grounded in the western experience the volume s twenty eight chapters consider not only the relationship between ethnic or racial minorities and the state but social relations within and between individual and transnational communities these shape not only the contours of governance but also the means by which knowledge of national identity self and other have been constructed and reconstructed over time divided into four sections it provides holistic and comparative coverage of south south east and east asia as well as australasia and oceania an area that extends from pakistan in the west to hawaii in the east contributors to this handbook offer a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives opening a domain of scholarship wherein the relationship between phenotype and racism is less pronounced than european and north american approaches which have often privileged the so called colour stigmata leading to further exclusions of particular ethnic racial and indigenous communities this volume seeks to overcome racism and white ideologies embedded in theories of race and ethnicity in asia proving a valuable resource to both students and scholars of comparative racial and ethnic studies international relations and human rights this engaging reader consists of 57 edited articles divided into seven parts part i establishes the importance of examining race as a contemporary social issue part ii establishes the analytical frameworks that are now being used to think about race in society part iii examines the most immediately experienced dimensions of race beliefs and ideology part iv examines racial identity and interracial relationships topics that are especially interesting to students part v analyzes the importance of the political economy of race showing how the economic exploitation of racial groups is buttressed by political arrangements in the state in particular the racial division of labor is supported by concepts of citizenship that deny full rights of citizenship to certain groups part vi details the consequences of race and racism as manifested in different social institutions including work family health housing education and social justice each section includes articles examining the outcomes within social institutions that stem from the reality of racial inequality in society part vii focuses on social movements and social change
