in recent decades the intensification of unpredictable events including the covid 19 outbreak brexit trade warfare religion inspired terrorism and civil wars and climate change has resulted in serious loss of human lives and property a decrease in biodiversity and natural hazards with long term negative impacts on environment and impeded social and economic development economics and engineering of unpredictable events modelling planning and policies provides an integrated view of the management of unpredictable events incorporating three major perspectives economic management environmental planning and engineering models contributors from economics planning regional science and engineering address key questions including how resilient are human societies and their habitats what should societies do to shift from being vulnerable to being more resilient and what role should planning and policies play to protect communities and the natural environment the chapters cover academic debates conceptual reflections case studies methods and strategy development with particular reference to mitigation and adaptation in face of unpredictable events this book is of particular interest to readers of economic policy urban and regional planning and engineering this book provides recently developed and tested methods for assessing the strengths and weaknesses of planning and policy options several contributions focus on new substantive areas of concern in planning evaluation including environmental justice and sustainable urban development applications of evaluation in several planning contexts are demonstrated and special problems that these pose are assessed several chapters address how to communicate the process and results to several stakeholder groups and how to engage these groups in the evaluation process each chapter employs a real world case in practice thus dealing with the complexity of applying planning evaluation and providing practical advice useful in similar situations a new framework for understanding the underpinnings of real estate property value and the role it plays in the larger economy value in a changing built environment examines the professional foundations on which the valuation exercise and the valuation profession rest written by noted experts in the field the book addresses the often limited understanding of the concept of property value by explaining the intrinsic linkages between economic environmental social and cultural measures and components of property value the book offers a framework that paves the way towards a more holistic approach to property value value in a changing built environment unwraps many of the traditional assumptions that have underpinned market participants decision making over the last few decades the authors explore the concept that a blindfold application of valuation theories and approaches adopted from finance is unlikely to be able to cope with the nature of property as an economic and public good this vital resource explains the criteria for making estimates of value that can be applied worldwide offers an integrated approach to property value and the valuation processes captures the often illusive intangibles such as environmental performance into valuation addresses a market failure to account for wider criteria on building performance value in a changing built environment examines how real estate valuation plays a pivotal role in decision making and how can a new body of knowledge improve the practice in both business and social domains ancient rome had deep roots in the villanovan culture that we call today the etruscans their long lived civilization can be traced to 900 750 bc in north west italy they were a sea faring people trading with and competing against greek and phoenician peoples including the carthaginians they were also a great land based power especially in the classical period where they expanded their power north into the po valley and south to latium in the 6th century bc an etruscan dynasty ruled rome and their power extended southwards to the amalfi coast in 509 bc the romans rose up to expel their kings which began the long etruscan twilight when their power was squeezed by the samnites and most especially the romans drawing on archaeological evidence including warrior tombs paintings sculptures and fully illustrated throughout this study examines one of the early rivals to ancient rome
