a provocative book an important book jagodzinski s and wallin s betrayal is in fact a wake up call for art based research a loving critique of its directions jagodzinski s and wallin s reference is the question what art can do not what it means theirs is an ultimate affirmation that uncovers the singularities that compose and give consistency to art not as an object but as an event their betrayal consists in an affirmation of life and becoming positing a performative machinics of the arts which is in absolute contraposition with the hegemonic discourse of art and as an object of knowledge and representation this does not only concern academia but also politics and ethics an untimely book that comes just at the right time bernd herzogenrath goethe universität frankfurt am main germany author of an american body politic a deleuzian approach and editor of deleuze ecology and travels in intermedia lity reblurring the boundaries approaching the creative impulse in the arts from the philosophical perspectives of deleuze guattari jagodzinski and wallin make a compelling argument for blurring the boundaries of arts based research in the field of art education the authors contend that the radical ideas of leading scholars in the field are not radical enough due to their reliance on existing research ontologies and those that end in epistemological representations in contrast they propose arts based research as the event of ontological immanence an incipient machinic process of becoming research through arts practice that enables seeing and thinking in irreducible ways while resisting normalization and subsumption under existing modes of address as such arts practice as research in the making constitutes a betrayal of prevailing cultural assumptions according to the authors an interminable renouncement of normalized research representations in favor of the contingent problematic that emerges during arts practice charles garoian professor of art education penn state university author of the prosthetic pedagogy of art jagodzinski and wallin have written a challenging book on the theme of betrayal which aims to question the metaphysical ground of the practice of many arts educators and researchers dismantling the notion of praxis which assumes a prior will as well as the pervasive notion of the creative and reflexive individual they revisit the notion of poiesis and the truth of appearing in order to advocate the centrality of becoming in pedagogical relations is it possible to develop pedagogies beyond those images of thought that attenuate learners teachers and researchers we need a new image of thought or better a thought without image and this book asks us to take up the challenge dennis atkinson director of the centre for the arts and learning department of educational studies goldsmiths university of london author of art equality and learning pedagogies against the state
