This study explores the composition and performance of liturgical music in El Escorial from its founding by Philip II in 1563 to the death of Charles II in 1700. Philip II promoted within his monastery palace a musical foundation whose dual function as royal chapel and as monastery in the service of a counter-reformation monarch was unique. The study traces the ways in which music styles and practices responded to the changing functions of the institution. Perceived notions about Spanish royal musical patronage are challenged. Musical manuscripts are scrutinized. Biographical details of hundreds of musicians are uncovered and musical practices are examined additionally two important choral pieces are printed here for the first time
