this book brings attention to the understudied and often overlooked question of how curricula and classroom practices might inadvertently reproduce exclusionary discourses and narratives that omit or negate particular cultures histories and wisdom traditions with a focus on representations and classroom practices related especially to ancient and indigenous wisdom traditions and cultures it includes unique contributions from scholars studying these questions in various contexts the book offers a range of important studies from various contexts across the americas including canada the various member nations of the caribbean community caricom puerto rico and the united states the various chapter contributions address and discuss nuances of each of the contexts under study the contributions also help highlight some key commonalities across these contexts including how dominant discourses and various forces have historically shaped and continue to shape and reproduce such omissions misrepresentations and marginalization in addition to seeking to reconcile with some of these ancient and indigenous wisdom traditions and cultures the book charts a path forward toward more holistic analytical frameworks as well as more inclusive and balanced representations and classroom practices in these aforementioned geographic contexts and beyond it will appeal to scholars researchers undergraduate and graduate students with interests in indigenous education curriculum studies citizenship education history of education religion and educational policy pressured by standardized testing and rigid pacing guidelines many schools are forced to cover too much content too quickly without being able to meet the needs of individual students in this powerful book from acclaimed author and presenter bob sornson you ll learn how shifting from curriculum based instruction to competency based personalized learning can help students become more successful confident and engaged learners each chapter is easy to digest and provides compelling research strategies and anecdotes to inspire conversation and action this second edition provides updated statistics and examples of schools successfully using competency based learning models to help you bring about meaningful change teachers administrators and community leaders will all find practical resources and a clear rationale for transforming our current educational system into a new dynamic model of teaching and learning south african universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy the dominant medium of instruction in the universities is english and to a much lesser extent afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools the focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully the volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by south african educators to a wider international audience virtually every national standards document every state framework and every local set of standards calls for fundamental changes in what and how teachers teach the challenge for teachers is to implement the vision for mathematics and science classrooms called for in the standards this issue describes that vision and suggests ways to use the standards mandated in your school to improve your practice to help you teach in your standards based classroom burnt by democracy traces the political ascendance of neoliberalism and its effects on youth the book explores democracy and citizenship as described in interviews with over forty young people ages 16 to 30 who have either experienced homelessness or identify as an activist living in five liberal democracies canada australia new zealand the united states and the united kingdom highlighting significant cuts to social and affordable housing astronomical increases in the costs of higher education and the transformation and erosion of state benefits systems jacqueline kennelly argues that democracy s decline is not occurring because young people are apathetic or focused on informal politics or unaware of their civic duties rather it is because of collective misunderstanding about how democracy is actually structured how individuals learn to participate and how growing wealth inequality has undermined the capacity of those at the bottom to meaningfully advocate for changes that might improve their conditions against a vivid and often heart breaking backdrop of stories from young people struggling to survive and thrive under conditions of ever expanding state retrenchment and inequality burnt by democracy makes a timely and impassioned plea for protecting and strengthening democracy by truly levelling the playing field for all
