the existence of minorities will grow in most countries of the world because of sociopolitical upheaval and economic crisis both of which result in waves of migration contributors to this volume discuss the task of education to alleviate the problems arising from the mix of peoples of various ethnic cultural linguistic and religious backgrounds no education system alone can create a just and equal society and education by itself is not enough to achieve peace nevertheless educational efforts assisted by other institutional commitments and actions are essential in order to create an atmosphere of justice mutual recognition and acceptance as preconditions for peaceful coexistence within groups and between people as a result of worldwide migration in reaction to wars and other geopolitical conflicts as well as economic crisis many modern nation states consist of a mix of people of various ethnic cultural linguistic and religious backgrounds indeed there are very few countries that are monocultural here contributors discuss how it is imperative that multicultural education be promoted to achieve awareness then tolerance and finally acceptance of ethnic and other diversity within societies in this bold provocative supplemental text for the field of educational administration colleen capper and contributors challenge administrators policymakers practitioners and communities to confront the realities of schools and students in a pluralistic society the book examines recent educational initiatives aimed at addressing the needs of students and staff from traditionally underrepresented groups marginalized on the basis of race language gender sexual orientation social class or disability each chapter critically reviews the literature and research to probe the current characteristics of a nondominant group including such information as its demographic characteristics its role in school reform its representation in organizational theory and behavior its presence within curriculum and instruction and its relationship with the school as community capper argues for the adoption of a multiparadigmatic framework from which to approach educational leadership for today's schools book jacket arguing that all too often the model of science held in school science education the way science is taught and the content matter learned are too narrow in outlook this work explores how a school education should be provided that is appropriate for the entire school population this book comprises a selection of articles published mainly in peer reviewed academic journals together with a small number of documents prepared for policy makers within the catholic education sector in england and wales the texts have been reprinted almost entirely as originally published but with some minor editing to avoid unnecessary duplication the papers are grouped into four sections the first is concerned with the context of state maintained catholic schools the second explores research into the academic performance of catholic schools prior to 1995 the third provides data on pupils academic and social outcomes together with comparative studies of teachers and leadership of catholic schools the fourth section contains briefing papers about various aspects of state maintained catholic education looks at culture and education in a multicultural society the politics of pluralism has long been an intractable characteristic of american public education today perhaps more so than ever educators grapple with an awareness of the fact that liberal societies cannot promote a particular vision of the moral life and still respect and uphold the multi cultural values of a pluralistic society the challenge of pluralism examines the problematic issue of the role of moral education in a pluralistic society the book takes an interdisciplinary focus and contributors include well known experts in such fields as psychology educational policy studies history of education political history curriculum philosophy of education theology and gender studies the essays delve into the myriad reasons for the moral education controversy and examine how the contemporary debate over the place of moral education in a pluralist society takes place within the larger context of the current arguments over the quality of american education in addition to a historical examination of the values pluralism issue the volume offers critiques of specific educational regimens as they address
