narrative perspective is the faculty through which humans understand structure and explore the world that confronts them this is the first volume to bring together the theoretical study of perspective with the rigor of experimental studies combining work in narratology with that in linguistics philosophy film studies literary theory and cognitive psychology the chapters are grouped thematically and drawn together by the editors who provide guidance through this new and fascinating interdisciplinary territory why is it that we tend to think about our lives as stories why do we strive to create coherent narratives that reflect a particular perspective what happens when we discover multiple perhaps conflicting perspectives in our narratives following groundbreaking work in the study of narrative identity in the last 20 years the scholars of this volume have expanded and merged their theories of narrative identity with new perspectives in fields such as narratology literary theory philosophy cultural studies psychology sociology gender studies and history their contributions focus on the significance of perspective in the formation of narrative identities probing the stratagems and narrative means of individuals in testing out personae for themselves the book offers a novel approach to the question of how to model narrativity against the background of perspectivization by bringing together contributions from neuro and cognitive linguistics literary studies and picture theory the volume uncovers basic mechanisms of perspectivization that are common to the different levels of linguistic structure literary novels and narrative pictures as such it is also a book on narrative perspectivization since its contributions examine in detail the perspectival principles in medieval romantic and postmodern literature in the micro linguistic structure of language narrative pictures literary novels dramatic texts and everyday stories in doing so it contributes both to the theoretical debate on the core definition of narrativity and offers new empirical investigations on perspectival principles in specific historical medial and genre constellations this volume will be of interest to scholars and students of cognitive linguistics narrative research and transmedial narratology cognitive poetics and stylistics thesis m a from the year 2006 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 3 university of paderborn 205 entries in the bibliography language english abstract ever since mcewan s first publications his work has received considerable attention from critics and scholars thus it is not surprising that mcewan has been awarded with a number of prizes for his work and that he has been praised to be one of the leading representatives of the young generation despite the extraordinary praise of mcewan s work it has been discussed most controversially the fact that he often engages taboo subjects like masturbation incest regression child abuse dismemberment sadism masochism etc earned mcewan the reputation of an author who writes to shock his audience mcewan himself appears to be surprised about these attributions and objects them however it seems to be undisputable that the narrations are extremely shocking but it seems that not only the choice of topics is responsible for the extreme response to mcewan s narrations in my opinion the shock value of mcewan s narrations is mainly caused by his particular way to present these topics in keeping with this i consider the form of mcewan s narrations to be as important as their content mcewan seems to experiment with the employment of perspectives subjective perspectives in particular in fact it can be argued that he taps the full potential of the employment of subjective perspectives in his narrations as the reader is confronted with the subjectivity of perspectives on all levels of textual communication in my opinion mcewan s most outstanding accomplishment is his ability of depicting subjective perspectives in all consequence the absence of morality in many of mcewan s narrations for example which is usually regarded as an underlying topic can also be seen as a result of depicting consistently a specific subjective perspective therefore this paper will exa the contributors to this exciting new collection edited by wendy patterson address the real and far reaching affects of narrative in everyday life positing the power and intentionality of narrative in short its strategic uses the essays reveal how we use our ways of telling to reclaim evaluate and draw meaning from our experiences in an increasingly complex world the contributors take up themes of narrative as resistance the ethical dimension of narrative the importance of narrative in the imaginary social worlds of children the role of narrative in the construction of masculinity the uses of narrative in therapy and the significance of imaginary stories in personal narratives of traumatic experience strategic narrative brings together diverse perspectives from a range of disciplines and takes the reader into compelling discussions of this often simplified and confoundingly theorized form of discourse a focus on the inter relationship between experience self and society brilliantly advances our understanding of the narrative turn in the social sciences this text will be of vital interest to both sociologists and psychologists
