popular music and the moving image in eastern europe is the first collection to discuss the ways in which popular music has been used cinematically from musicals to music videos to documentary film in eastern europe from 1945 to the present day it argues that during the period of state socialism moving image was an important tool of promoting music in the respective countries and creating popular cinema yet despite this importance filmmakers who specialized in musicals lacked the social prestige of leading auteurs and received little critical attention the resulting scholarly prejudice towards pop culture created a severe shortage of critical studies of the genre with the fall of state socialism and with it the need for economically viable film and media industries brought about an unprecedented upsurge of films utilizing popular music and a greater recognition of popular cinema as a legitimate object of study popular music and the moving image in eastern europe fills the gap and demonstrates why the popular music cinema interface needs to be theorized with respect to the political ideological and social forces invested in popular culture this year's conference explores the ways in which dance forms circulate across communities regions and nations acquiring new meanings as they travel while the term globalization has gained currency in scholarly debates of recent years the dispersion of performance practices is hardly a new phenomenon thus the conference includes both historical and contemporary analyses of dances migrations what happens when dances migrate it is common knowledge that founding figures in european and euro american modern dance appropriated asian movement vocabularies in their choreographies but scholars are only beginning to examine the ways in which latin american african and asian folkloric dance convention has been inflected by european concert dance training and stage practice as well as mtv choreographers by focusing on the circulation of movement styles pedagogies and performance conventions we hope to trouble some of the categoric distinctions which have tended to divide dance research between western and non western classical and folkloric and ritual social and theatrical genres arguably the histories of many contemporary dance forms are more complex than such restrictive categories would admit
